BRITISH AIRMEN FIND TARGETS FOR BOMBS AT NAPLES AND KIEL

More Effective Opposition Encountered at Italian City, But Railway and Oil Tanks Successfully Attacked—Large Fires at German Naval Base—Casualties in England Are Few

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Diving low, the Royal Air Force bombed well-defended Naples during Sunday night, despite heavy anti-aircraft fire. Other bombers attacked the Kiel naval dockyards in Germany for nearly seventy minutes, the Air Ministry news service said.

Italian anti-aircraft guns provided more effective opposition than in last week's raid. The city was well blacked out. Heavy and fairly accurate fire was met by the British planes.

"Though the attack was hampered by clouds, the leading aircraft dropped flares and then came down low to plant a stick of bombs between the main railway station and a junction," the Air Ministry News Service said.

"Other aircraft attacked oil tanks at Poggio Reale on the southern outskirts of the city and bombed them effectively."

FIRES AT KIEL

The first Kiel raider started fires soon after his arrival at 4 a.m. Later arrivals scored hits with heavy calibre bombs in the dock area and started two large fires.

The aerial blows at the Axis from Kiel to Naples were accompanied by an official forecast that in another six months Britain will have passed

MANUFACTURING MASTER GAUGES

Canadian Craftsmen and Engineers Showing Great Skill and Ingenuity

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—Canadian craftsmen and engineers in fifty shops are turning out highly-complicated "master gauges" for guns, shells, tanks, aircraft and other essentials of the Dominion's war-time programme, Munitions Minister Howe said tonight.

The minister's statement said this number compared with "only two or three shops" capable of turning out gauges to a precision of 1-10,000-inch before the war began.

"The highly satisfactory output of these precision gauges is a tribute to the skill, ingenuity and spirit of Canadian craftsmen and engineers," Mr. Howe said.

HIGHLY ADAPTABLE

"We are finding that Canadians are highly adaptable, and that young men and women can be trained for the most exacting work and can attain astounding skill.

"We have had the utmost co-operation from manufacturers in the rapid expansion which has been necessary in this vital phase of the war effort."

Mr. Howe said more than 4,000 kinds of gauges now are being made in Canada.

"All master gauges turned out for war needs were submitted to exacting inspection in the laboratories of the National Research Council at Ottawa, the Ontario Research Foundation at Toronto and the Quebec Arsenal," Mr. Howe added.

"Gauges are inspected in terms of hundred-thousandths or even, on occasion, of millionths of an inch."

Pope to Have His Personal Raid Shelter

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 4 (AP).—Pope Pius is determined to remain in the Vatican, despite new air raid alarms in Rome, it was reported unofficially tonight. It was said the Pontiff finally has agreed for work to proceed on a personal shelter.

Nine tons of steel are being used in the shelter, which will have its own heating and light plants, a small bedroom, library, kitchenette and a prayer corner. It probably will not be completed before the end of the year.

HAVE THIRTIETH CHILD

CONWAY, S.C., Nov. 4 (AP).—The thirtieth child has been born to Ed Roberts, a farmer, and his wife. Twenty-four of the children are living. The thirtieth child is named—Ed.

JAPAN QUITS CHINA AREAS

Army Shortening Lines by Withdrawals — Naval Base Abandoned

HONGKONG, Nov. 4 (CP).—Indications that the Japanese army is shortening its lines drastically by withdrawing from several occupied zones, especially in South and Central China, increased tonight.

Abandonment of its zone of occupation in Kwangsi Province, South China, apparently was just about completed and Chinese columns following the retreating Japanese were said to be approaching Yamchow, Kwangtung Province port, through which the Japanese in Kwangsi were supplied.

Just off the coast the Japanese abandoned Waichow, an island they had used as a naval base.

FROM CHUNGSHAN AREA

Chinese dispatches reported, without independent confirmation, that similar withdrawals were in preparation in the Chungshan district, across the Pearl River Estuary from Hongkong, from the port of Swatow, northeast of Hongkong, and from Tochow, strategic river port in Northern Hunan Province, southwest of Hankow.

Chinese reports had it that the majority of Japan's garrison in Canton, chief city of South China, might be leaving and that several Japanese firms there were preparing to close.

Last week the Japanese South China command announced it was withdrawing from Nanning, Kwangsi capital.

The explanation was the acquisition of air and army bases in French Indo-China made it unnecessary to retain the Kwangsi zone.

Chinese spokesmen have denied the Japanese claim the Kwangsi withdrawal, for instance, was voluntary and pointed out that Nanning

Five Hundred Tons of Soap For the Army

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP). — Five hundred tons of soap—equivalent to more than 5,330,000 three-ounce cakes—has been purchased for the armed forces in Canada in the last three months, the Department of Munitions and Supply reported tonight.

Here are a few other mass purchases made by the department in that period: 140,000 razor sets, 42,000 brushes, 142,000 clasp knives, 100,000 sets of forks, knives and spoons, 100,000 water bottles, 50,000 bedsteads, 75,000 mattresses and the same number of pillows.

British Lose Two Vessels; Italians Two Submarines

Admiralty Announces Loss of Laurentic and Patroclus by Enemy Torpedo—Casualties Not Given—Rome Admits Undersea Craft Failed to Return to Their Bases

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—The Admiralty announced today loss of two big armed merchant cruisers by enemy torpedo. Balanced against this was the destruction of two Italian submarines by light naval forces of the Mediterranean Fleet.

Apparently the anti-submarine drive was being pressed home, for a third submarine was reported to have taken refuge in Tangier during the week-end after being chased by three British destroyers.

The lost armed merchant cruisers were:

H.M.S. Laurentic, 18,724 tons, a converted passenger ship, which operated between Montreal and Britain a decade ago.

H.M.S. Patroclus, 11,314 tons, owned by the China Mutual Steamship Navigation Company.

Crew losses were not announced, but the Admiralty said fifty-two officers and 316 seamen were rescued from the Laurentic and thirty-three officers and 230 men from the Patroclus.

No details of the sinkings were given. The Laurentic was built in

FOUR BURNED IN SHIPYARD BLAST

Explosion Aboard Newly-Built Vessel Undergoing Tests Severely Injures One of Employees

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Nov. 4 (CP).—Four shipyard employees were burned, one seriously, when an explosion blew out the boiler doors of a newly-constructed vessel here today.

The ship was undergoing a machinery test when the explosion occurred. Cause of the blast was not established immediately, but damage to the vessel was slight.

Paul Lavallee, thirty, was burned about the hands and face, and was taken to hospital where authorities said he was in no immediate danger. The other three men in the boiler room at the time suffered less serious burns.

COMMONS ENDS SESSION TODAY

House Will Assemble Again On Thursday With Debate Opening Monday

OTTAWA, Nov. 5 (CP).—Parliament meets today to prorogue and assemble again Thursday for ceremonial opening of the new session.

Proceedings will be restricted to the brief formalities of presenting new members and prorogation. But immediately after the new session gets down to business, probably not until next Monday, Opposition members say they are prepared to make a critical examination of the Government's war administration.

The present session opened last May 16 and adjourned August 7, subject to quick reassembly if an emergency arose.

Only a small number of the total membership will be present for today's formalities. The House of Commons and Senate both will meet at 12 noon, M.S.T.

ATTEND IN SENATE

In the Commons there will be prayers, after which Speaker Glen will announce that Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, deputy of the Governor-General, will attend in the Senate at 1:15 p.m. to prorogue Parliament.

While awaiting the call from the Senate announcing that Sir Lyman is waiting for Commons members to attend there, the four new members elected since the last meeting will be introduced. They are Navy Minister Macdonald, of Kingston

MANY DIE IN TRAIN WRECK

Express Derailed on Main Line of England's Great Western Railway

LONDON, Nov. 4 (CP). — Police, soldiers and Air Raid Precautions workers searched tonight in the wreckage of the Great Western Railway express for victims of Britain's worst train accident in three years.

At least twenty-four persons were killed and fifty-nine injured when the train, bound for Penzance, was derailed in Somerset. Authorities described it as a "straightforward railway accident" unrelated to the war.

Three bodies were believed to be still under the debris.

CAUSE UNDETERMINED

Uninjured passengers joined in the rescue work when the engine and three coaches were derailed by a cause which remains to be determined. Witnesses said the train was not traveling fast. A preliminary inquiry may be opened tomorrow.

Military and naval doctors among the passengers tended the injured. One male victim had to have both legs amputated before being removed from the debris. Dim oil lamps were used to light the scene and broken doors and seats served as stretchers.

A woman clutching two children in her arms was taken from the shambles of one coach. All three were dead.

Most of the casualties were soldiers, sailors and airmen.

MANITOBA NOW HAS COALITION

Province Has First Union Administration in Seventy Years—The Cabinet

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4 (CP).—Manitoba tonight was placed under the legislative guidance of a coalition Government, with the perennial Premier, Hon. John Bracken, at the helm. It is the first such Government in Manitoba's seventy years of life and the first union administration to appear in Canada since the war started.

The Premier, who started his latest edition of Government rolling last Monday, announced his coalition Cabinet today, merging Conservatives, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation members and Social Credit with his Liberal-Progressive followers. Last Monday he declared it was his hope such a Government would strengthen administrative foundations of the province to face the critical war period and the troubled days of the post-war years.

ELECTION NEXT YEAR

However, the life of the new regime might be very short unless the voter passes approval at the provincial election which is slated for early 1941. Mr. Bracken is expected to summon the Legislature this month or early in December and, after the session, announce an election date, with the Union Government followers going to the country to face candidates selected to oppose the coalition idea.

The present Liberal-Progressive Government was born in July 1936, and as it nears the end there are twenty-three Liberal-Progressives in the Legislature, fifteen Conservatives, six C.C.F., five Social Creditors and four Independents with two seats vacant.

From this number Mr. Bracken

Flying in Snowstorm Plane Hits Mountain Taking All to Death

Ten Killed in Accident to United Air Lines Craft Near Salt Lake City—Failure of Radio Beam Probable Cause of Disaster

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 4 (AP).—A United Air Lines plane, lost in a blinding snowstorm, crashed into a mountainside today, killing its ten occupants. S. V. Hall, U.A.L. vice-president in charge of Western operations, said "it looks very much as if the accident was caused by a failure of the range or radio beam."

"Our trip No. 11 reported that the range had irregularities at 5:36 a.m." (M.S.T.).

Hall said the range was reported "O.K." at 4:24 a.m., but that it evidently failed about the time the San Francisco-to-Salt Lake plane, piloted by Capt. Howard Fey, of Oakland, approached Salt Lake.

All indications were that the pilots had no forewarning of their danger. The passengers' safety belts apparently were not fastened.

The wreckage was strewn over a wide area about three miles northeast of Centreville, ten miles south of Salt Lake City.

Ground parties struggled through foot-deep snow and tangled underbrush to reach the scene.

Bodies of the passengers and stewardess were piled in a jumble at

ROOSEVELT GETS PETAIN MESSAGE

Contents of Note Concerning French Colonial Possessions Not Made Known

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (CP). — A message from Marshal Petain of France was delivered here today and, although its contents were not made public, it was believed to contain assurances on the subject of French colonial possessions in the Western Hemisphere.

There has been concern here lest recent negotiations between France and the Axis powers lead to Axis penetration of these possessions.

Ten days ago, President Roosevelt sent a message to Petain. Today the French Ambassador, Gaston Henry-Haye, handed Petain's reply to Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Talking with newsmen later, Henry-Haye asserted there was no danger France might allow Axis penetration of the possessions to threaten the security of the Western Hemisphere.

GREEK OFFENSIVE DRIVES ENEMY FAR INTO ALBANIA

Defenders Claim Part of 4,000 Italian Troops Captured, With Considerable War Material—Advance Threatens 30,000 Around Koritza—London Confirms British Landing

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1940, by the Southam Co.)

LONDON, Nov. 4 (By Cable).—British help for Greece has taken the form of landing troops, dispatching units of the navy to Greek waters and giving assistance in the air, also. The Churchill Government realizes that the Axis attack, says The Times diplomatic correspondent, is not simply against Greece but against the whole British position in the Eastern Mediterranean.

When King George declared in a message to the King of the Hellenes "your cause is our cause" his words were both a pledge and a statement of strategical fact. Greek resolution has not been shaken by the dictators' diplomatic wiles. Turkey has quietly taken the responsibility for guarding the Greeks' eastern flank against an incursion from Bulgaria and it is significant that the Turkish Premier's declaration of solidarity with Britain was made after the Germans had sent Ambassador von Papen to him in a forlorn attempt to cajole the Turkish Government.

The Greek cause is highly popular in Turkey. German propagandists are trying to induce the Turks to believe the war against Greece is an unimportant episode and that German diplomacy will provide a satisfactory solution. But the Turks are now used to these tricks and merely smile at them.

The Times stresses how little the Italians have so far gained and how the delay has helped both Greece and Britain in their defensive preparations. The acquisition of Greek bases will greatly extend the power of the British fleet to operate in the Eastern Mediterranean and of the Royal Air Force to bomb Southern Italy. Italy is not only the weaker of the two dictatorships but is less wholeheartedly in the war. All the greater need, therefore, says The Times, to strike at her by every available means.

Eden and Smuts have met at Khartoum to review the African campaign. The War Minister will give a full first-hand report to the Cabinet on his return to London. Smuts found great quantities of new material had arrived from South Africa and in a speech foresaw the day when there would be a great "United States of Africa."

The Vichy Government has sent Fernand de Brinon to Paris as envoy to its conquerors and as Laval's agent. De Brinon is the pro-German financier who when he last visited Berlin two years ago was greeted with a guard of honor and military bands. Laval is still working to the utmost to bring Petain into line and intensify France's present subjection to Hitler.

The whole of the Middle East Command is enthusiastic about the dash and efficiency of the mechanized detachments of the Sudan frontier force. Everywhere they have encountered the Italians they have inflicted heavy casualties at no loss to themselves.

WAS OLDEST MASON

ARNCROACH, Fifeshire, Scotland, Nov. 4 (CP). — Robert Ness Baillie, who planned last February to celebrate his centenary but found there was a mistake in his birth certificate and he is only ninety-seven, is dead. He was believed to be the oldest Freemason in Britain and was initiated into the St. Andrew Lodge seventy-three years ago.

Duce's Airmen Bomb Towns But Lose Five Machines

ATHENS, Nov. 5 (AP).—The capture of part of 4,000 Italian troops sent into Greece to cut communications was reported early today as Greece's skirted shock troops announced they had seized another hill in Albania and taken a quantity of Italian war material.

(Belgrade, Yugoslavia, dispatches said the Greek General Staff reported the capture of thirty tanks and Greek sources in Belgrade said their northern army was in possession of mountain heights surrounding 30,000 Italians.)

The Greek defenders who are carrying the war to Italian-conquered Albania were said to have thrust forward ten kilometers (more than six miles) in bitter bayonet charges to seize the heights of Mount Morava in Albania, commanding the road to the Italian base of Koritza.

SURRENDER EXPECTED

The number of prisoners taken there was not disclosed, but front advices said surrender of the remaining force is pending.

Munitions and guns also were captured.

The Greek high command communique said a trench mortar, machine guns and material had been taken at various points of the front.

The high command said the enemy had bombed repeatedly many towns and villages in Greece, but that "our aviation successfully bombed and machine-gunned concentrations of tanks and troops at different localities."

U.S. GOES TO POLLS TODAY

Americans to Ballot on Chief Officers and Members For House

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (CP).—A rearming United States, alarmed over its future in a warring world, goes to the polls today to decide whether Franklin D. Roosevelt or Wendell L. Willkie will be its President for the four years just ahead.

Out of the long and at times extremely bitter campaign, the great central issues upon which an expected 50,000,000 or more citizens will vote emerged as:

Do President Roosevelt's seven-year leadership, his knowledge of and experience with foreign affairs, and his social reforms at home, justify him in asking the nation to end its historic record of never giving one President more than two terms in the White House?

The President says "yes." He asks a "vote of confidence" and mandate to lead the United States for one more term during which, he has said, he hopes peace will return to the world. In any event he has stated that at the end of the term "there will be a new President."

Willkie says "no." "There is no

JAPANESE WANT CHINA AS ALLY

Would Make Herself Self-Sufficient by Joining Nations if War Won

TOKIO, Nov. 5 (AP).—Outlines of a ten-year programme through which Japan hopes to make herself self-sufficient by linking Manchukuo and China to her as economic allies, were published by the Government today.

Details were not disclosed, but the main lines as given out by the Cabinet Information Bureau indicated the role Japan intends to assign to China if and when she can be made to surrender her economic direction to Japan.

THE PROGRAMME

Briefly, Japan is to be the industrial unit of the bloc with the other two feeding her with raw materials and providing markets for her products. The announcement summarized the programme thus:

1. Japan is to operate the heavy industries and send skilled workers to direct any industries which Manchukuo and China may retain.

2 Manchukuo is to produce enough basic staples and supplies for the entire bloc; large scale government-fostered immigration from Japan is to raise Manchukuo's population and lessen Japan's pressure of numbers.

3 Chinese unskilled labor to be used to develop mines and other natural resources.

Japan, with her colonies, has a population of 100,000,000, Manchukuo about 35,000,000, China about 450,000,000.

KILLED IN CRASH NEAR COURTENAY

Andrew McCartney, Truck Driver, Loses Life—Five in Automobile Hurt in Collision

COURTENAY, Nov. 4 (CP).—Andrew McCartney, of nearby Union Bay, was killed almost instantly yesterday when his light truck was involved in a head-on collision with another car carrying five passengers on the Island Highway, twelve miles south of here.

McCartney died as he was being removed from the wreckage.

Kenneth Bell, of Campbell River, whom police said was driving the passenger car, suffered a broken leg. Other occupants of his car were Dick Farmer, of Campbell River; Jack W. McGeorge, of Victoria (1029 Park Street); Miss Elsie Suendall, Courtenay, and R. G. Farmer, of Courtenay, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

LATE NEWS BULLETINS

DENIES NEGLIGENCE IN ALASKA SHIP GROUNDING

SEATTLE, Nov. 4 (AP).—Captain Herbert Luckin pleaded innocent today to charges of negligence placed against him by a Marine Inspectors' Board for the grounding of the steamer Alaska on a British Columbia coastal island before dawn, October 27. The board made the charge as it continued its investigation into the grounding on Elliott Island, near Prince Rupert.

MILITARY CAMP AT SHILO CLOSING FOR WINTER

SHILO CAMP, Man., Nov. 4 (CP).—After resounding for six months to the roar of artillery pieces and the tramp of thousands of marching feet, this military camp on the rolling plains 120 miles west of Winnipeg, within a few days will be silent and practically deserted. The last big unit left today for further training in Winnipeg, leaving only a few details of men and caretakers.

GREEK FREIGHTER PUTS INTO DUTCH HARBOR

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Nov. 4 (AP).—United States Coast Guard Headquarters here reported today the Greek freighter Georgios Potomanias had taken refuge at Dutch Harbor, in the Aleutians, because of fears for its safety since Greece's involvement in war. The ship was reported to have entered the neutral port Friday, en route from Wilmington, Dela., to Japan, on orders from the Greek Government.

MONTREAL FREIGHT HANDLERS VOTE TO STRIKE

Lands Settlement And Planning Urged In B.C. Legislature

Year's Deferment on Irrigation Interest Payments Mooted in Bills Laid Before House—Debate Continues With Appeal for Post-War Schemes

INTRODUCTION of three message bills to amend land, drainage and diking statutes in British Columbia, and continuation of the main debate by three members featured proceedings in the Provincial Legislature yesterday, after the first week-end recess. On the main debate, R. W. Bruhn (Conservative, Salmon Arm) appealed for co-operation between parties to solve post-war problems; Mrs. R. P. Steeves (C.C.F., North Vancouver) advocated low-rental housing schemes in urban centres; and George M. Murray (Liberal, Lillooet) urged British immigration under the Page-Croft scheme.

Mrs. Paul Smith (Liberal, Burrard) adjourned debate until 2:30 p.m. today.

LAND ACTS

Introduced by Hon A. W. Gray, amendments to the Dyking Assessment Adjustment Act, 1908, and to the Sumas Draining, Dyking and Development District Act, would remit for a further year the levy of taxes for interest and sinking fund purposes on lands held under these schemes; deferring payment of these sums until the end of the agreements, as was done successively in the last few years.

Amendments to the Land Act, also introduced by Mr. Gray, were said to contain amendments suggested by anomalies in the present law, particularly with respect to the sale, redemption and transfer of small holdings. There was no direct reference to land settlement in the measure, nor did the terms of the proposed amendments seem addressed to any change in the land policies of the Province. First readings followed in each case.

Continued debate occupied most of the afternoon sitting of the House.

R. W. BRUHN, M.P.P.

"The old world is rapidly crumbling about us. No one can foresee the results of the aftermath of this war. Canada as a nation must be prepared to meet those problems, but the Dominion cannot be expected to do that single-handed. If it is going to be a 'Liberal' war, and if Liberals at Ottawa and Victoria are prepared to meet those problems, well and good. But if not, I urge this Government to form a committee of the Legislature now to plan long-range solutions for those problems which British Columbia will have to meet," Mr. Bruhn declared.

"The people of Canada are concerned to see members of this and of every other Legislature get right behind Great Britain, fighting also single-handed for the freedom, happiness and welfare of the world. I congratulate the Premier in what he has done, and I congratulate the Federal Government on what they have done in the war effort; but I was disappointed that the Prime Minister of Canada did not see fit to follow the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill — the leading spirit of Great Britain — who did not hesitate to call in the best brains the country could produce.

NEED FOR UNITY

"For ten years I have been advocating that, and I am pleased now to find that most British countries have done so. I do not know anything in Canada today that would give greater unity of strength than to have this country follow the example of that great English statesman. If the war continues for another year or two, I will not be surprised if Prime Minister Mackenzie King does so," Mr. Bruhn said.

In an indirect reference, Mr. Bruhn referred to the example of the Bracken administration in Manitoba, stating that at the next election British Columbia might be disposed to follow that lead. Liberals in the House replied that the Manitoba administration did not have a majority.

Turning to roads, Mr. Bruhn urged the Government to implement the promise of a highway commission. After forty years, the Big Bend Highway had just been completed and turned over to the Province. It would require $1,000,000 to surface the route, part of the Trans-Canada Highway. Mr. Bruhn said he thought the Dominion should take over construction cost and maintenance of the whole highway. An east-west military highway was also needed, perhaps via the Hope-Princeton route. Praising the Rowell report, Mr. Bruhn urged the Province to swing all its weight behind the recommendations when the proper time came.

MRS. R. P. STEEVES, M.P.P.

Speaking under the handicap of a severe cold, Mrs. Steeves read extracts from The Economist, London, to show that Britain was leading the way towards a new Bill of Rights for mankind. In spite of the war, Britain was raising the living standards of her people. A call had gone out for recognition of adequate living standards for all; with an irreducible minimum income which where necessary the state would help to make up, and a maximum income beyond which no one would be allowed to profit.

Respect and admiration for the common people, in peace as in war, were forcing these changes. Widows' pensions were already in effect in the United Kingdom. An evolutionary revolution was under way on a broad basis, creating a new world. The old days of a free market, the cornerstone of capitalism, had passed, Mrs. Steeves declared. Dealer and middleman had disappeared, and farm laborers, the stepchildren of industry, were being cared for at last.

The C.C.F. believed that Canada could make economic contributions to the war. Food surpluses, including grain on the Prairies, and fish and fruit in British Columbia, could be sent to the United Kingdom as an outright gift. There were no problems in foreign exchange to stop such contributions on a voluntary basis, and removal of the surpluses would help Canada.

EMBARGO DISCUSSED

Metal and other embargoes on exports to Japan had been taken too late, Mrs. Steeves continued. Vital war materials had been allowed to go forward when the Japanese were bombing Chinese men, women and children by the thousand and the hundreds of thousands. A full embargo on all direct and indirect materials of war could still be effective, if it were imposed.

Mrs. Steeves renewed advocacy of low-rental housing projects in Vancouver where, she asserted, she had found slum conditions at some points. Rents, she stated, had been raised on new tenants after the Federal control order had gone into effect. Married men with large families who were in the services were not receiving sufficient allowances for maintenance. Union workers at airplane hangar creosoting plants had been discriminated against, while non-union plants had been kept steadily employed. Overtime rates were not in all cases being actually paid.

The Province, declared Mrs. Steeves, had been "siding coyly behind the Rowell Commission's report" on health insurance and many other matters. The report handed back health insurance squarely to the Province. The people had voted for health insurance, and present times with higher industrial wages made the moment for its introduction ripe. What, she asked, did the Government propose to do about it? As in Britain, the only way to retain democracy was to have more democracy, Mrs. Steeves declared in conclusion.

GEORGE MURRAY, M.P.P.

Mr. Murray urged the Government to reopen the Page-Croft scheme of assisted British immigration, coupling this with United States settlement of areas in Alaska. The Province, he said, had agreed to give the land, but nothing had come of the proposals. Mr. Murray dilated on what he said was the menace to the Pacific Coast arising out of the world conflict. Settlement was necessary for the safety and the development of the whole region. Sir Henry Page-Croft, now Lord Croft, had made a personal survey of the ground, and had shown himself much interested in the plan.

Mr. Murray urged action on construction of the British Columbia-Yukon-Alaska highway, both as a safe route for the United States to Alaska and also to open up and develop extensive areas in British Columbia for Canada. Settlement, he added, was implicit in that plan also. As matters stood, the British Columbia Coast was one of the most exposed in the Empire, in his opinion; with men on service there as much in the front line as Canadians serving in Britain. The war itself he saw as a fight between living standards, provoked by intensive industrialization, Mr. Murray said, in conclusion.

Mrs. Paul Smith (Liberal-Burrard) adjourned debate for the day, the House rising at 5:05 p.m. until 2:30 p.m. today.

Well-known local vocalists and instrumentalists gave their services as guest artists for the function, held in aid of the Jesse Longfield Memorial Fund, which is being established by the choir.

Rev. J. Lewis W. McLean, minister of the church, acted as chairman, and the enthusiastic applause given the artists indicated the pleasure with which the programme was received.

ESCAPED GERMAN IS HANDED OVER

Will Be Returned to Canadian Internment Camp—No Prisoners At Large Now

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Nov. 4 (CP).—Emanuel Fischer, who escaped from a Northwestern Ontario internment camp and was captured in the United States August 23, has been handed over to Canadian authorities by United States immigration officials.

Following lengthy inquiry, the United States Immigration Department decided to deport Fischer, who claimed to be a Spanish national. He was brought to Canada as a war prisoner.

Fischer, seaman of German origin, will be returned to the internment camp to stand trial for escaping. When brought here today he was placed in the custody of Royal Canadian Mounted Police Constable Robertson.

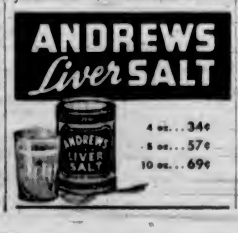

Fischer made his way from the camp to the border and escaped detection until he reached Virginia, Minn., about 100 miles below the border, where he was taken into custody by immigration officials and held for investigation, and decision of the Immigration Department at Washington.

Seventeen prisoners have escaped from Canadian internment camps, but with the return of Fischer, all have been accounted for.

DROP BOMBS ON NAPLES AND KIEL

Germany in aircraft, ships and guns."

With the Empire's achievement of armament superiority, said Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, "the ugly Nazi regime will crumble up in Hitler's hands." (It is believed he used the term "ships" in its most general sense. Britain has always held a preponderance of merchant and naval shipping over the enemy.)

Earlier Sunday, R.A.F. planes operating in daylight, attacked Flushing, Holland, and the airdrome at Soesterberg.

The raid on Naples was the second in four nights, but British authorities gave no hint where the planes started from.

NO SERIOUS DAMAGE

LONDON, Nov. 5 (CP).—Single, high-flying Nazi air raiders bombed London throughout the dark hours last night and today. Scotland, Wales, the English Midlands and the Southwest also were attacked.

Flying in the face of fierce anti-aircraft fire, the Germans apparently did not inflict serious damage.

The prolonged raid on London followed the quietest twenty-four hours since the all-out attacks began on September 7.

Sirens wailed their evening alarm through London on schedule. Slight intermittent gunfire was heard shortly afterward.

The raiders approached the London area frequently, despite intense darkness, and at times gunfire became extremely heavy.

One bomb fell near a hotel and blew out the windows, but caused no casualties.

RAIDERS REPORTED

Scarcely had the night raid begun in London than reports were received of raiders over Northeast, Southeast and Southwest Scotland, Wales, the Midlands and Liverpool.

A bleak northwesterly wind drove heavy clouds along the English Channel.

A town on the southeast coast and one in the Midlands reported that low-flying raiders machine-gunned the streets.

Only once during the day was the metropolitan area threatened. A single German raider dropped a few bombs around tea time.

Indicative of the quiet was the Air Ministry and Ministry of Home Security bulletin issued Monday night, one of the briefest accounts of a day's raids in some weeks. It read:

"Very few enemy aircraft have crossed the coast today. Bombs have been dropped in the London area and at widely separated points in the Midlands and East Anglia, causing damage to a few houses. The number of people killed and injured was small."

REVIEWS WATER SUPPLY SCHEME

Councillor Warren Explains Proposed Deep Well System for Saanich

At an annual cost no greater than the amount the municipality pays to the City of Victoria at the old rate of 7 cents per 1,000 gallons, Saanich could have its own independent supply of soft, pure water, at adequate pressure, sufficient to meet the needs of the district for the next twenty years at the present rate of development, and capable of expansion at small cost.

Such was the statement made by Councillor E. C. Warren, chairman of the council's waterworks committee, to a public meeting in the Brentwood Hall last night, under the chairmanship of W. O. Wallace, president of the Saanich Board of Trade. Councillor Warren addressed the meeting at the board's invitation, explaining events leading up to the council's decision to explore for a deep well water supply system, and giving a detailed description of results achieved from the six test wells sunk at a cost of $9,000.

ADEQUATE SUPPLY

Two of these wells, he stated, delivered 485 and 465 gallons a minute, respectively; and any one of them developed more water than was necessary to supply the daily requirements of the municipality during seven and one-half months of the year, not the peak period.

Councillor Warren explained that the municipality had been forced to seek an independent supply by reason of the steady decrease in pressure of water supplied by the city, to the point where, at the peak period certain areas were unable to get any water at all.

Whether or not the municipality continued to take its water from the city, it would be compelled very soon to build reservoirs. With two 4,000,000-gallon reservoirs, the council was convinced that wells, tapping an unlimited underground flow of pure, soft water across the peninsula towards Cordova Bay, could supply all the municipality's needs, now and in the future, and that the system would quickly pay for itself.

NO CONTAMINATION

The most exhaustive tests had proved that the water taken from the wells already drilled contained no "hard" properties, and was free from contamination of any kind. That the source of the subterranean flow was some snow range and not surface precipitation was proved by the fact that the yield from the wells was greater in Summer than in Winter. Experts were surprised that such a large volume of water could be pumped from such shallow wells.

"For the amount we are now paying the city we could install the whole system," Councillor Warren declared.

Reeve A. G. Lambrick, who attended the meeting with several other members of the council, explained that the cost of the wells would come out of waterworks revenue, and not general revenue.

Both Councillor Warren and Reeve Lambrick answered many questions on details of the scheme.

COMMENDS POLICE FOR CO-OPERATION

Appreciation of police department co-operation was expressed by J. B. Clearihue, K.C., Crown prosecutor at the Fall Assizes, in a letter received by the police commission yesterday afternoon. Mr. Clearihue also asked that thanks be tendered to Inspector Walter Caiwell, Sergeant Thomas Hall, Detective Fearon Woolburn and Constables Harry Mercer and Reginald Lanning.

The commission accepted a tender of Daniel F. Sprinkling to supply thirty-seven pairs of trousers for $325.97, and a tender of Robert Rankin to make eight overcoats and three jackets for a total of $392.50.

Chief J. A. McLellan was asked to deal with a letter from the Revellers' Canadian Rugby Football Club suggesting that police protection be supplied free during games at Macdonald Park.

"Never waste household scraps," says a wartime economy hint.

Agreed. Open the windows and let the neighbors hear.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Reveille Is Sounded For $100,000 Drive For Welfare Funds

Community Chest and Red Cross Collectors Go Into Action—Campaign Officials Confident That Objective Will Be Reached

MORE than 600 volunteer workers went into action yesterday morning as the reveille was sounded in the annual combined campaign of the Community Chest and the Red Cross Society, to provide the funds needed to carry on the district's welfare and charitable institutions.

The campaign, which last year produced $102,000, has an objective of $100,000 this year, but it is hoped to be able to swell the total to $110,000 in order that additional funds may be made available for the wartime work of the Red Cross Society.

EAGER TO ASSIST

Financial results of the first day of the week-long drive compared favorably with those of the first day in the 1939 campaign. The day's total was some $1,600 less, but canvassers reported general eagerness on the part of the public to give to the common fund, which, in wartime, has a greater burden placed upon it than in time of peace.

The grand total for the day was $34,046.79, as compared with $35,673.73 for the first day last year. Results achieved by "A" Division, however, were taken as an indication that the campaign will reach its objective. This division turned in a total of $28,545 in gifts and pledges, representing an increase of more than $700 over the first day last year.

DIVISION TOTALS

Returns made by other divisions, with the figures for the first day last year in parenthesis, follow: "B" Division, W. W. Martin, chairman, $942 ($1,681.50); "C" Division, Miss Sara Spencer, chairman, $4,042.54 ($5,558.33); "D" Division, $178.25 ($481.40); "E" Division, $339 ($128).

Two four-figure gifts were included in yesterday's total, David Spencer, Limited, presenting a cheque for $3,000 to the fund, while a cheque for $1,000 was received from Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Todd.

WIDOW'S MITE

One touching instance of eagerness on the part of people in straitened circumstances to contribute to the common fund was mentioned yesterday by a Victorian Order of Nurses worker, who is canvassing for the chest. An elderly woman, grateful for assistance received from the V.O.N. in the past, forced upon the collector a dollar bill from her small monthly old-age pension cheque, her sole means of livelihood.

Following is an early list of some of the larger gifts to the fund, issued yesterday by campaign headquarters:

Carew Martin, $75; David Spencer Ltd., $3,000; Miss L. Galt, $600; Miss M. G. Galt, $600; W. B. Lanigan, $50; Mrs F. W. Hartley, $100; John Tuffnell, $125; R. W. Mayhew, M.P., $500; Senator J. H. King, $50; Miss L. Angus, $350; F. Storer-Brown, $250; Dominion Hotel, $100; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Magrath, $800.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Todd, $1,000; Mrs. G. Hepburn, $100; Royal Trust Company, $100; Dr. J. F. May $25, G. H. Stevens, $100; Island Finances, Ltd., $25; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Grant, $60; Royal Bank of Canada, $250; Mrs. A. W. Jones, $100; Commander C. H. R. Slingsby, $60; Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., $100; Senator R. F. Green, $200; J. E. Goldring, $325.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carlyle, $100; Pemberton and Son, $50; Metropolitan Stores, $25, Columbia Paper Company, $65; Blue Ribbon, Ltd., $25; Canadian Industries, Ltd., $50; Standard Oil Company, $62.50; Canada Trust Company, $25.

Safeway Stores and Macdonald Consolidated, $300; Begg Motor Co. Ltd. $100; James Richardson & Sons, Ltd., $100; George A. Touche & Co., $25; Kelly, Douglas & Co., Ltd., $50; N. G. Cull, Ltd., $20; Storey & Campbell, $30; A. P. Slade Ltd., $45; Union Oil Co., $65; Neon Products of Canada, $50.

Judge H. H. Shandley heard the following applications for naturalization in County Court yesterday morning: Sadie Hunter, born at Alpena, Michigan; Oscar Lincoln Aubel, born at Hope, North Dakota, and Milton Smith Trimble, born at Blossom Prairie, Texas. An application of Svend Krag was stood over for a date to be set.

ESCAPES INJURY IN CAR ACCIDENT

James Beale, Oxford Street, Unhurt When Machine Overturns And Catches Fire

James Beale, 1159 Oxford Street, miraculously escaped injury about 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the automobile he was driving turned on its side and caught fire on Burnside Road, near Admirals Road, according to a report from the Saanich police.

Mr. Beale told police he was driving towards the city when the steering gear broke and he lost control of his car. What probably saved Mr. Beale from serious injury or possible death was the fact that the car was equipped with a "sunshine roof," a device which permitted the top of the machine to slide back, and with the assistance of a schoolboy, Mr. Beale crawled through the opening to safety.

He received only slight bruises and cuts. Constable Jack Hamilton, of the Saanich police, attended with the fire department. The car was a total loss.

CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

If the British Empire was infused throughout all its parts with the spirit of Mr. Winston Churchill, if it took his advice and worked to the extent that he considers it necessary to achieve victory, this War would be over long before it will be over because of a certain lack of appreciation, in some quarters, of the magnitude of the task in hand. Mr. Churchill says: "Each to our part, each to our station, fill the armies, rule the air, pour out the munitions, strangle the U-boats, sweep the mines, plough the land, build the ships, guard the streets, succor the wounded, uplift the downhearted, honor the brave. Let us go forward and together in all parts of the Empire. There is not a day, not a week, not an hour to be wasted."

"I am a father," writes Mr Garfield in The Star, Montreal. "If every citizen in the British Empire will act as advised by the gifted, dynamic Prime Minister of Great Britain, my sons and the sons of other Canadian fathers will soon return home. Then I shall be a happy man. God speed the day!" "Fill the armies," says Mr. Churchill. Recruiting for the Active Service Force in this country is practically at a standstill. "Each to our part, each to our station." Is that true in this Dominion? In the Speech from the Throne, which opened a session of British Columbia's Legislature last week, the statement was made that "into this conflict the people of Canada are bringing to bear the full weight of their resources in man power, material and money." It would be well, indeed, if that were so; well for the speedier ending of the War; but unfortunately it is but a pious expression of belief which is not borne out by actualities.

This country is not putting forth the full weight of its resources in the struggle. There has been a virtual stoppage of recruiting for Active Service. Not a single tank, or a single airplane engine has, as yet, been turned out from the industrial plants of the Dominion, and the War has been in progress for fourteen months. Ottawa, so far, has failed to extend official recognition to various auxiliaries of war effort that have been organized so public-spiritedly throughout the country. The fact is that Canada's war effort is still of the "in-between" variety endorsed by Mr. J. G. Gardiner, the Minister of War Services. Because there continues to be qualified participation, the War will be prolonged. It cannot be said that each person in this country is playing his or her part, has gone to his or her station. It can never be said that Canada is filling the armies of the Empire when she has suspended the vital task of recruiting men for service where the War is being fought.

EVIL COMMUNICATIONS

Every society, profession or cult is likely to invent or adopt some technical terms suitable for the exposition of its tenets. These terms taken over from the general vocabulary and colored with a special connotation are convenient for the use of the members and, if necessary, for missionary purposes as well. The earnest supporter of any given doctrine naturally desires that the truth should be made known and accepted by others. Instinctively he feels that something is gained for the cause he has at heart if the public can be made acquainted with the words, phrases and catchwords that he uses himself. A little reflection will show that when the technical terms of any system of thought, sound or unsound, constructive or disruptive, are adopted into any one's vocabulary these terms will infallibly carry with them some portion of the doctrine, good or bad, that they are used to expound.

Freudianism, for example, is a doctrine that has been widely advertised in recent years. It is a doctrine built partly upon fact and partly upon supposition and surmise. Thus, it is probably true that the "unconscious" mind is a storehouse of energies and of personal habits developed in the course of the individual's experience. Doubtless if these energies do not find an outlet through these partially or fully developed habits, the individual suffers. Everyone knows what happens to men who, having retired from active life, find that the usual channels of their energies have been blocked. To this the Freudians add some surmises of their own and proceed to develop their doctrine in terms like the following. There is something within us, they say, which they liken to an invisible spring of water seeking an outlet. Now, when an underground spring succeeds in finding an outlet, all is well. If, however, the flow is stopped, the adjacent earth is soaked with the stagnant fluid, and all is not well.

In looking about for a name for this inner source of energy the Freudians decided upon the term "libido." In the original, it signifies, first, appetite, longing, violent desire; second, self-will, wantonness, immoderate unrestrained desire; and, third, sensual desire, lust, lewdness. Employing the term chiefly in the last of these senses, and following the analogy of the underground spring they assert that the supression of impulse or the frustration of desire produces harmful results upon the character. Remove the suppressions, say the Freudians, follow your natural impulses, give full play to the inner springs of energy, deny the conventional inhibitions imposed by traditional ethics, and live your own life.

The technical language employed in explaining the system to the public soon passed current in the conversation of young people. Perhaps they were impressed by the fact that so much was said about it in books and magazine articles on "modern" psychology. More than that, novels with a Freudian background were written, favorably reviewed, and widely read. As a consequence of the continual repetition of the Freudian jargon of neuroses and complexes, restraints and inhabitions, suppressed desires, the unconscious, the libido, free self-expression, and the like, the moral conceptions of young people were infected. It was simply an illustration of the fact that when a new word or phrase becomes part of the familiar vocabulary of an individual, its connotation and suggestions also enter his mental life for good or ill, and his

nature is subdued
To what it works in, like the dyer's hand.

The unwarranted assumptions of the Freudians and the vain imaginings of psycho-analysis have been duly pointed out again and again by competent critics. The cult is a mixture of bad psychology, rickety logic, and the ethics of the Stone Age or earlier. If Freudianism with its exaggerated emphasis upon primitive impulses and free self-expression were generally accepted and acted upon, the character of our civilization would speedily decline to a low level. The really important springs of human action would be suppressed, the generous aspirations of the soul would be smothered, unselfish desires and cherished ideals would be crushed, and the high hopes of youth would be frustrated.

Freudians and psycho-analysts are not quite so vocal and voluble as they used to be. They have had their day, like the Behaviourists who tried so hard a few years ago to popularize "psychology minus consciousness." Both of these cults have been moving steadily towards the limbo of lost causes.

NEED OF EDUCATIONAL REFORM

The New York Herald-Tribune, through its Forum, recently arranged for an eleven-year-old child refugee from England to broadcast to Great Britain and to the United States, particularly to his fellow refugees. The boy was Alan Bemrose, of Derby, and here is an extract from what he said: "And now, across the ocean are you there, Daddy and Mummy? This is Alan Bemrose speaking for all the British children in America, to all their mothers and fathers in England. We want you to know that we are happy and that everybody loves us. They do not call us refugee children. They call us guardians of the future. They know that you sent us here to keep alive what you are fighting for at home: faith and freedom. They know they we, too, promise that government of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not perish from the earth. Dear fathers and mothers in England, we never forget you for a moment. We know there'll always be an England. And when the War is over and we are together again, we'll help you build up the world for free men to live in."

The Herald-Tribune, in connection with this broadcast, has been commenting on the stage of education in England, of the age of Alan Bemrose, as compared with development in the United States. Alan, it says, was found to be "up to the senior year of high school, according to American curricula. The officials at St. Mark's placed him in that grade, most of whose students are seventeen years of age." It goes on to say that "one American educator, who has been active in the work of adjusting the British children to the American environment, said that, in many cases, the British children have proved to be far ahead of the American children in studies." She said that "in England less time is devoted to extra-curricular activities during the school year, thus leaving more time for studies." This may well mean that there should be an overhauling of the educational system on this continent. In Canada the War has uncovered the fact that many young persons who have passed through the public schools have little or no sense of their responsibilities to the State, only a smattering of knowledge, and few, if any, moral principles.

There is romance in the name of the Burma Road, as there is on the road to Mandelay. The Immemorial East still has lessons to teach this New World. After all, what could be more prosaic or commonplace, than the "Island Highway," or "Highway No. 1." In the nomenclature of Asia there is something that touches the imagination, and, if Napoleon is to be believed, it is imagination that governs the human race.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

It has been announced, a little prematurely, that party government has ended in Manitoba. Out of its own long history, British Columbia may recall the day when there was no party government in this province. A succession of log-rolling ministries led to a grand debacle, from which Sir Richard McBride finally rescued the people, by the formation of a straight party government about 1903. The truth is that unless there are parties, two for preference, there will be no Provincial Legislature. What takes its place is a form of county council, no matter what it is called.

There are not a few people who believe that the county council form of administration would suit provincial life even better than a Legislature, and that the abolition of nine Provincial Legislatures would be a fine thing for Canada. That, it is probable, would remove the authority of the Crown in the right of each province, and probably the chief law-abiding functions as well. A provincial county council would be left with by-laws on the one hand, and licensing and modified taxation authority on the other. Meanwhile, at the national capital would be built up a centralized form of government, with a sole parliament (two houses), and the sole right to speak for the Crown. As far as the provinces are concerned, therein has lain the doubt. How many national governments in Canada have been able to see over the Rocky Mountains in the past?

The county council has long been attractive, looking solely at the benefit side. Annual elections for half of the council following as a matter of course, would appear to give the people a more direct control over their own policies. High horses might be left in the stable, and bombast and ballyhoo along with them. Councillors, especially where they had had almost necessary municipal experience before, would look harder at the dollars, and might reasonably be expected to make them go further. A million dollars might again be considered a tremendously large sum of money to be found by approximately 250,000 taxpayers. There would be less talk of "per capita" levies, to which infants in arms never yet have contributed. In short, a provincial county council might mean a deflation of the provincial ego, and that could be a fine thing for both a province and its people.

On the other hand a county council based solely on municipal experience might fall short of ready-made provision for a provincial-wide area, including, as it does forests, mines, fisheries and fourteen diversified types of agriculture. If development were to follow, population could not be made the role test. As the law-making function in the province was removed, or atrophied, with it would go one by one the chief rights of taxation as federal control assumed more and more of erstwhile provincial tasks and responsibilities. In the long run, a provincial county council would be good or bad in direct proportion to the men who composed it, and that is true of any form of governance. Its powers would be very much changed from those of a Legislature.

Setting aside wartime emergencies, the parliamentary form of government not only implies but predicates the party system. A Legislature without any parties has in the past become a Legislature such as British Columbia saw in a swift succession of changes prior to 1903. Any two men who wanted to support another man could form some kind of a ministry. And ten members who were determined to stick together could sway any House. The result in the past was log-rolling, bargaining, and instability, with ministries rising and falling as they did in France in the last decade. Yet there were able men in British Columbia prior to 1903 as there have been since.

Theoretically, at least, the control of Legislatures by the people rests in their recurrent right to say who shall have the reins of office. If the reins are handed to one man, supported by a group of close friends, a personal ministry ensues, with all its attendant evils. If the reins are handed to a party, that party (a much wider representation) becomes responsible, and rises or falls on the basis of its own actions. It is responsible for every foot of the way. The party in power is watched by the party out of power. The people hold the final gavel, and so the long pendulum swings. That, at least, has been the development of the parliamentary system, and it is a party system in normal, unstrained times.

* * *

A true bill might be made out against parties that allowed their power to converge down the funnel of the years into the hands of one man, or even a group of men. It is a just complaint that a ministry goes one way, while its party stands pledged to progress in the opposite direction. It becomes a calamity when parties are unbalanced, and when oppositions in a Legislature dwindle to a mere handful of men who can be voted down at the first crack of a party whip. But these are the abuses rather than the uses of the parliamentary system. And they spring from the lethargy of a public that has failed to do its whole duty, because parties spring from the public. There is no other place from which they can come. Legislatures may initiate "round table discussions," and, indeed, that is what they are supposed to do; but that you will ever see government-without-responsibility on a permanent basis this column for one does not believe. The risks are too great.

Lunch on the Hoof

An old South African warrior was heard in a veteran's club regaling some of the newer soldiers with tales of the Dark Continent. "I remember one burning day in 1898 when the thermometer hovered around 100 degrees and you could fry an egg on your pith helmet," he commenced. "I decided to visit a cannibal village in the bush to check up on a recent murder. Half way to my destination I met a cannibal walking along with a native girl about fifteen years of age. I bade him good morning, and he answered politely in his native tongue. I asked him for an introduction to his girl friend. He grinned like a piano keyboard on a dark night and instantly replied, 'This is not my girl friend. She is going to be my lunch'." According to a correspondent, the busiest thoroughfare with the worst sidewalk is Cook Street, between Pandora and Hillside Avenues. The office boy came in at 9.15 o'clock in the morning, fifteen minutes late as usual. Unfortunately the boss had not been celebrating that night and contrived to arrive early. "All right. What is the excuse this time?" the boss thundered. "I forgot to set my alarm clock. I had only fifteen minutes to dress and eat," the lad pleaded. "Is that so?" the boss bellowed. "Why, I can dress in three minutes." The boy looked hurt when he answered, "Yes, but I wash."—G.B.

Glancing Over Sport

A large number of Victorians are interested in news coming from the Eastern State of New Jersey concerning Jimmy Todd, the young lefthand golfer who entered the pro ranks and is making good, despite the fact that he swings them from the wrong side. Well, here's a clipping I received from a New Jersey newspaper recently about the annual New Jersey professional best-ball championship: "The combination of Johnny Kinder, state open king from Plainfield, and Maurrie O'Connor, of Branch Brook, were victims of a stunning first-round upheaval. They dropped a close decision one up, to Jimmy Todd, Braidburn Club's lefthanded pro, and Art Straub, operator of a driving range in Spring Lake. Three down at the eleventh, Todd and Straub fired three birdies and a winning par at their formidable opponents to eke out a one up victory. The Braidburn southpaw, who came to Jersey from Canada two years ago, clinched the duel by snaring birdies on the fourteenth and fifteenth holes. He dropped a twenty-five footer on the fourteenth and a curling ten-footer on the next green. In the next round Todd and Straub ran into two former U.S. national open champions in Long Jim Barnes and Johnny Farrell. The latter pair held an one up lead when the match was called on account of darkness. It was continued next morning and the veterans, Barnes and Farrell, won out on the final green. Barnes' sensational thirty-four on the first nine was the deciding factor as it gave his side a lead." So you see, folks, Jimmy is doing nicely in fast company.—J.D.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits totaling $7,900 were issued by the city building inspector yesterday.

They were: D. and N. Bryce, conversion of a dwelling at 131 Clarence Street into a two-family home, $500; conversion of a house at 1128 Collinson Street by K. Hemsworth for F. W. Plant, $2,200; a five-room house to be built at 220 Robert Street by Mr. Hemsworth for G. Timothy at a cost of $2,600.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of November 5, 1890)

A Derrick Dredge—In connection with the work of excavation on the site of the new Outer Wharf, a first-class derrick dredge is to be built on the spot early in the Spring. The machinery is now in manufacture in Ontario. This second new dredge is to be as fine a sample of its kind as the Mudlark is of the "scoop," and both will work together in completing the work Mr. Sinclair has in hand. The Mudlark will be shifted to the Outer Wharf as soon as she completes her work at the C.P.N. Co.'s slips.

Repairing the Bridge—Messrs. Williams and West are hard at work making the repairs to Rock Bay Bridge, decided to be necessary at the last regular meeting of the City Fathers. They are putting in 1¼-inch tension rods and bracing the piles to carry the swing. Mr. Luney will commence shortly to place six feet of concrete around the piles, doing the work each day while the tide is out. The total cost of the work will be $1—7, just seven dollars more than the Council has appropriated for the purpose.

New Flour Mill—The new flouring apparatus belonging to the Victoria Milling Company will, it is announced, be put into operation today, after which regular grinding will be continued.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 500 words in length.

"BANNING THE BIBLE"

Sir,—The caption is ill-chosen and we approve your good judgment in enclosing it in quotes. It is not as if the Bible had already had a place in the curricula of our schools and colleges. Not only does the caption assume to prejudice the issue, but, by implication, it imputes an unfriendly attitude on the part of those who have hesitated to vote a categorical "yea" to the bald proposition, unsupported by adequate guarantees and safeguards.

The vote taken at the Association of School Trustees at Nelson has frequently been described as "decisive." Decisive as to desire and possibly to intention, but the proposal will have to undergo very critical scrutiny before it can function in our present school system. The votes recorded were thirty-seven for, seventeen against, while nineteen were in the same dilemma as myself.

I could, with little reserve, endorse every argument advanced by Mr. George. Those of his opponent were not irrefutable. If the curriculum is overcrowded, use the pruning knife anywhere but in the upbuilding of character. If denominational differences present insurmountable difficulties, a dogma which I indignantly repudiate, preachers themselves should undergo a change of heart. The alleged "danger of separate schools" is a cry of "wolf, wolf." The right to maintain separate schools is recognized and encouraged by the State, and every denomination will be protected in the exercise of that right so long as they do not militate against State interests.

Your issue of the 30th ultimo carried three remarkably fine letters. Mr. Eckman voiced, with deep conviction, the opinion of most of your readers. Mr. Crump voiced my own deep-rooted conviction in these words: "Is the ordinary teacher qualified to teach religion (purely a matter of faith and hope) to our school pupils? It is solely upon the point of his parenthesis that he and I would differ. The teacher need not be an evangelist. I would question very seriously any direct effort to teach religion "purely as a matter of faith and hope." That must ever remain the peculiar task of church and home. As I see it, the teacher's task is to illustrate rather than to define; to exemplify rather than to inculcate, to lay foundations rather than to erect structures.

I have only space for a hint or two. Some of your correspondents suggest a course in what they call the "Ten Commandments." Oh, my friends, as you value your child's future I beg of you, in God's name, begin anywhere but not there, not there!

A paragraph in Vera Conolly's most charming letter is worth pondering over. "Perhaps one of the most human and interesting features of the Bible is its humor." Her attributives are wisely chosen. Nothing reveals our Saviour to us in all His endearing humanness so clearly as His sense of humor. How dearly He loved a joke. At times, among His intimates, He was deliberately tantalizing. There was never a doubt as to the intention, and the reaction brought His loved ones about Him in a fellowship unspeakably beautiful and tender. Above all, I think, He was the children's friend. Just to know Him was to love and serve.

Local Services Held In Memory of Naval Men Who Died at Sea

Victoria Joins With Churches of Country's Capital In Mourning for Sailormen Who Recently Went Down With Their Ships

Memorial services to the memory of the men of the Royal Canadian Navy vessels Margaree and Bras d'Or, which were lost at sea, the Margaree through collision and the Bras d'Or presumably by an "act of God," were held in city churches on Sunday.

All naval ranks gathered in the drill hall of the naval barracks at 10:30 in the morning where the Anglican Church service was conducted by Rev. Arthur Bischlager, senior naval Anglican chaplain on the Pacific Coast, while the Mass sung during the morning at Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt, by Rev. Father A. B. Wood, senior naval Roman Catholic chaplain for the same area, was attended by relatives and friends of the men who were lost on the Margaree. Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., and Commander W. W. Porteous, R.C.N., representing the Royal Canadian Navy.

At St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in the evening, Rev. James Hyde assisted by Rev. James Hood, conducted a service in memory of the Margaree sailors who gave their lives for the cause of Empire. The soloist was Miss Ora Jealouse, and the church was profusely decorated with flowers and wreaths donated by the florists of Victoria. Officers and men from Esquimalt attended. The subject of the address was from Psalm the 107th Psalm, "So He bringeth them to their desired haven."

AT THE CAPITAL

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—National and personal mourning for the Canadian Navy men lost at sea in recent weeks were symbolized in memorial services here today, attended by Government leaders, diplomatic corps, defence headquarters staff and hundreds of civilians. At Christ Church Cathedral, Prime Minister Mackenzie King joined with others in paying tribute to the 172 men who died in the sinking of the destroyer Margaree and in the loss of the mine sweeper Bras d'Or.

Members of the Cabinet, chiefs of staff, black-clad mothers and widows heard Major the Rev. W. A. Kidd assert that the principles of freedom and human rights for which the Empire is fighting—and for which these navy men died—are "deep-seated in the heart of God."

At the Basilica, Archbishop Alexandre Vachon voiced the similar sentiments for a congregation which included Navy Minister Angus Macdonald, Fisheries Minister Michaud, representatives of the diplomatic corps and the armed services.

Major Kidd reminded the Cathedral congregation that the hope of the future lay in the fact that "after Calvary came the Easter day."

The sacrifices of these navy men had in them an "appreciation of the cost of nationhood" and proceeded from a deepening value which Canadians were placing on their citizenship.

Major Kidd, acting principal Protestant chaplain, said he knew many men of the naval service, earnest and resolute, conscious that they were engaging in a service with grand and honorable traditions reaching back through the centuries, which had turned the tide of national life many times and determined issues of world importance.

BRAVE KNIGHTS

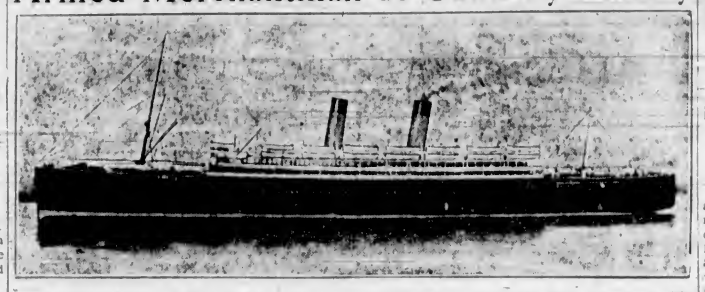

Archbishop Vachon termed the naval men brave knights who "went away with joy in their hearts because they were going to defend justice and right against a ruthless foe, in whose heart all humanitarian sentiments seem to be obliterated."

Among those attending the Cathedral service were Commander Edson Sherwood, representing the Governor-General; Sir Gerald Campbell, British High Commissioner; Defence Minister Ralston and the general staff, Finance Minister Isley, Labor Minister McLarty, Revenue Minister Gibson, Postmaster-General Mulock, the naval staff, and many of the air staff.

The congregation at the Basilica included Baron Robert Silvercruys, Belgian Minister to Canada; Rene Ristelhueber, French Minister to Canada; J. J. Hearne, High Commissioner for Eire; Ontario Mines Minister Laurier, representatives of the three defence services.

Throughout the services at both the Cathedral and the Basilica, four sentries of the Royal Canadian Navy stood with arms reversed, heads bowed.

McNab, recently awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, has led his squadron to several victories over German planes, the tally of his squadron being something in the neighborhood of seventy-five Nazi planes, according to word at the Air Ministry.

Gordon McGregor, Montreal, has been named acting squadron leader, succeeding McNab in his old post.

HERE ON VISIT OF INSPECTION

Canadian National Telegraphs Chief Making Round of Offices

D. E. GALLOWAY

On a routine tour of inspection, during which he is also studying business conditions and calling on as many of his company's customers as possible, D. E. Galloway, assistant vice-president Canadian National Telegraphs, Toronto, is visiting Victoria.

Mr. Galloway is in charge of all telegraph and telephone services for the Canadian National Railway. He arrived on Saturday night from Vancouver. Leaving here tonight for the Mainland city, after spending several days there, he will proceed to Prince Rupert, heading East from the northern terminus of the C.N.R.

The Canadian National Telegraphs chief is accompanied by Arthur Swinton, general commercial supervisor of C.N.R. Telegraphs, Toronto; J. G. Davies, general superintendent, Western Region, C.N.R. Telegraphs, Winnipeg, and G. Gottfred, superintendent, Alberta and British Columbia, C.N.R. Telegraphs, Edmonton. During their stay here the party is being shown around by B. A. Boate, local manager, C.N.R. Telegraphs.

Mr. Galloway stated that last year he had been unable to visit the Pacific Coast, and it was two years since he had been in Victoria. He found business good generally, he said, all the way across Canada. There had been some falling off in services necessary to brokerage concerns owing to the war, but this had been more than offset by a greater volume of business growing out of wider demands for the company's telegraph and telephone services throughout the country, a condition which might also be attributed to wartime necessity.

JEWEL REPLICAS GOING ON TOUR

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (CP).—Replicas of the British Crown Jewels will be exhibited here this week and then will be displayed throughout the United States as part of the British-American ambulance drive to raise money to buy ambulances for Great Britain, it was announced Saturday.

The replicas previously were on exhibition at the World's Fair, which closed last month after running two seasons.

Reproductions of some of the most sacred objects in English history are contained in the collection of twenty-nine items representing the Crown Jewels. Included in the reproductions is one of the Sword of Mercy, symbol of the quality of mercy and the coronation of English kings for more than 1,000 years.

C. M. Picktall, British commissioner-general of the World's Fair, formally presented the reproductions to William V. C. Ruxton, president of the Ambulance Corps.

U.S. VOTING ON TUESDAY

Electors in Forty-Eight States Go to Polls—Closing Times

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (CP). — If today's Presidential election turns out to be close, the result may be in doubt until late tonight—possibly until early tomorrow morning—it was indicated today in a survey of vote-closing times across the United States.

In 1936 election first returns showed such a pronounced trend toward President Roosevelt that as early as 9:15 p.m. newspapers began to come out with confident predictions that he had swept the country. The President finally swept forty-six of the forty-eight states.

However, even the most confident Democrats are not predicting a sweep of that nature this time. Consequently much attention centred upon the times a positive trend may be expected.

IMPORTANT STATE

If the election is close, the New York State vote will be of vital importance. But the New York polls will not close until 6 p.m. P.S.T. and as much as two hours may be needed to establish the trend throughout the state.

Poll closings vary in time all over the country, but within comparatively minor limits. Generally speaking the polls close between 6 and 8 p.m. local time.

That means, in terms of Pacific Standard, that the Atlantic seaboard states cease voting around 3 p.m. The central states around four and five, the mountain states five and six and the Pacific Coast states around seven to eight.

CLOSE AT SUNSET

Two of the states, South Carolina and Virginia, cease voting at "sunset." At this time of the year sunset in the South comes about 1:30 p.m. P.S.T.

The fact the states are units in the Presidential election—that is the majority of state votes decide the entire electoral college vote for that state—tends to make the result closer than in a Canadian general election where each constituency is a unit.

There is no restriction in United States such as was in effect in the Dominion election last March which prohibited "publication" of any returns in a province before the polls were closed in that province.

Thus in the United States, California and New York, and other late-voting states, will have results of several, perhaps many, states before their own polls are closed.

Under the Canadian system, while the results could not be made public until the polls are closed, the flow of voting results was not affected. These results poured into newspaper offices in, say, British Columbia over The Canadian Press wires and were available for publication or a broadcast picture as soon as the polls closed.

Side by side with electing a President, the United States is choosing a new House of Representatives and a third of the Senate. These results, by electoral districts, will be slowed up by the fact major attention is naturally concentrated upon the presidential vote.

TIME POLLS CLOSE

The state polls closing, in Pacific standard time, follows:

1:00-4:00 p.m.—Georgia, South Carolina.
1:30 p.m.—North Carolina, Virginia.
2:00 p.m.—Kentucky.
2:45 p.m.—Florida.
3:00 p.m.—Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, New Hampshire, South Dakota, Vermont.
3:00-4:00 p.m.—Alabama, Maryland.
3:00-5:00 p.m.—Michigan.
3:00-6:00 p.m.—Tennessee.
3:30 p.m.—Ohio, West Virginia.
4:00 p.m.—Indiana, Maine, Mississippi.
4:00-5:00 p.m.—Oklahoma.
4:00-6:00 p.m.—Wisconsin.
4:30 p.m.—Arkansas.
5:00 p.m.—Arizona, Kansas, Louisianna, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Texas.
6:00 p.m.—Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Minnesota, New York, Utah, Wyoming.
6:00-7:00 p.m.—Rhode Island.
7:00 p.m.—Nebraska, New Mexico.
7:00-8:00 p.m.—California.
8:00 p.m.—Oregon, Washington.

A negro was pleading his own case to save the price of a lawyer. He called the chief witness to the stand and said: "Joshua, where was I when we stole those chickens?"

WAR VETERAN PASSES AWAY

A. G. Peasland, of Bank of Montreal Staff, Saw Long Active Service

A veteran of the former Great War in the person of Albert George Peasland, 2644 Cavendish Avenue, passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Sunday. Mr. Peasland was a member of the staff of the Bank of Montreal in this city, and was well-known as a member of the "Old Contemptibles" Association of War Veterans. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Williamina Christina Peasland; one son, Charles Willcox, and one daughter, Sheila Jean, both at home. The deceased was fifty years of age.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse will officiate. Interment will be made at Royal Oak Burial Park.

The late Mr. Peasland was born in Hongkong, educated in Scotland and England, and joined the staff of the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation in London in 1912.

SERVED IN WAR

Mr. Peasland had a most creditable record in the last Great War, having seen service practically throughout the whole course of those trying times.

Prior to the Great War, he enlisted in the famous Territorial Regiment, the London Scottish, and on September 15, 1914, he had the personal honor of being the first Territorial to set foot in France. He was wounded in the memorable charge at Messines Ridge on November 1, 1914, but after a period in hospital in England he rejoined his regiment in France and was promoted to the rank of lieutenant. He later joined the 21st Squadron of the Royal Air Force, to which unit he was attached at the time of the Armistice.

In 1920 Mr. Peasland joined the staff of the Bank of Montreal, and since that time has been attached to various branches of the bank in Canada, including latterly Vancouver, Penticton and Victoria.

TO HOLD MEETING OVER REZONING

All affected persons objecting to the rezoning of the district in Esquimalt around Head Street and Old Esquimalt Road so that a club for sailors may be established there, may appear before the Esquimalt Council next Monday evening at 7 o'clock. The council plans to change the district from that of a residential one to an apartment one so that the former "Brydon House" may be used for the entertainment of naval men.

The club at the corner of Head Street and Old Esquimalt Road will provide dancing, games and reading and writing rooms if present plans materialize. No liquor would be sold or allowed on the premises and a naval patrol would be in attendance. A small dry canteen would provide refreshment for the men.

MANY FEATURES IN NEW CHRYSLER

Grace of Line, Interior and Exterior Appointments and Quality Throughout Give Leadership to New Cars

The 1941 Chrysler models, now on display in the showrooms of The Begg Motor Company, Limited, are attracting more than usual attention. Named the "More Beautiful Chrysler" by the company, an inspection of the exterior and the interior will show why. The 1941 models undoubtedly are greatly improved in appearance over those that won public acceptance as beautiful cars in 1940. It is not only in beauty that the new line has gained, however, but in many other things. It is superior in roominess, comfort, safety, long life and performance. It brings many new things to the market and, refinements on many others that have proved their fundamental worth in previous years.

Fluid drive, the sensational and exclusive development of Chrysler Corporation engineers, is now made available on the entire Chrysler line—standard on the eights and optional on the sixes. There is a new type of transmission known as the "Vacamatic," which does wonders for performance and handling ease and which cut operating costs.

The overall length of all models has been increased—as much as seven and one-half inches in some. This, with a lowering by one and one-half inches in the overall height and an extension of the streamlining principle that Chrysler first introduced in the airflow car at the beginning of the 1934 model year, gives the current line a sleek and racy appearance that suggests great power in rapid motion.

The name "Airflow" has been given to the new body because it is an ultramodern development of the famous airflow Chrysler, which, introduced at the beginning of the 1934 model year, completely revised previous conceptions of the body design and greatly influenced the whole industry. The 1941 Chrysler body is, however, a very notable advance over the original airflow. It is wider, longer and lower.

Mechanically the car has been improved by a number of entirely new features and by innumerable refinements. Horsepower has been stepped up by refinements in engine design and by the use of a new type of multiple-jet carburetor, which both increases horsepower and promotes economy of operation. There are jets for idling, jets for normal driving and "Spitfire" jets that come into action when the driver "steps on it." A new "Vacamatic" transmission used in connection with fluid drive provides automatic safety control. This feature both greatly improves all phases of performance and increases fuel and oil economy.

MANITOBA NOW HAS COALITION

who has headed Manitoba administrations since 1922, today chose three Conservatives, one C.C.F. and one Social Crediter to join his non-partisan Cabinet. Since 1936 when the Government failed to gain a clear majority over all, Social Crediters and some C.C.F. members lent support to the Liberal-Progressive Government.

REMAINS AS PREMIER

To solve the problem of representation in the new Cabinet, Mr. Bracken, who will remain as Premier and president of the executive council, surrendered portfolios he held. Also two of his veteran followers are leaving the Cabinet. They are Hon. W. R. Clubb, who is quitting the Ministry of Public Works and Labor, and Hon. I. G. Griffiths, resigning as Minister of Health and Public Welfare.

Mr. Clubb shortly will be made chairman of the Government Liquor Control Commission to succeed John Turnbull, who is retiring. Mr. Griffiths is becoming commissioner of Manitoba Farm Loan Board, succeeding A. B. Adamson, who has acquired a new position.

Since 1922, first under the Progressive regime, and then the Liberal-Progressive line-up, Mr. Clubb has had the Public Works ministry in the Bracken Cabinets. He entered the Legislature in 1920 under the Progressive banner.

The fifty-seven-year-old Premier's first step in rearranging his Cabinet was to shed from his own shoulders the job of Provincial Hydro, Dominion-Provincial Relations and Railway Commissioner.

THE NEW CABINET

Then he lined things up among the newcomers and his old-time Cabinet supporters as follows:

Minister of Public Works—Errick F. Willis, Conservative leader in the Legislature.

Minister of Labor—S. J. Farmer, C.C.F. leader.

Minister of Health and Public Welfare—James McLenaghen, Conservative member for Kildonan-St. Andrews.

Minister of Municipal Affairs—Alex R. Welsh, Conservative.

Member of the Executive Councilmember for Hamiota.

Minister of Provincial Hydro—Hon. S. S. Garson, now holding the Provincial Treasurer's portfolio.

Minister of Dominion-Provincial Relations—Hon. W. J. Major, who also is Attorney-General.

Minister of Industry and Commerce, and Railway Commissioner—Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, also Minister of Mines and Natural Resources.

indispensable man," he has cried. He charges the President with seeking to perpetuate one-man rule and asks if the new promise of no fourth term can be accepted.

AID FOR BRITAIN

On the major policies of full aid for Britain, defence of the Western Hemisphere and, at home, the New Deal's accomplishments in creating social security, minimum wages, old age pensions, banking reform, and similar matters there is no quarrel.

Willkie has stated these things are "national policies" and his administration would not change them, although it would seek more economical means of dealing with the social problems.

Both candidates pledged themselves not to lead United States into war except in national or hemisphere defence. Mr. Roosevelt says his record of having steered a non-belligerent course amid all the wars of his term in office while at the same time backing up friendly nations makes it clear he is not "quick on the trigger." Mr. Willkie and his supporters have declared the President is "headed for war" against the totalitarian states, and that his promises in this regard will go the way they claim some of his other declarations have gone.

A turnout of 50,000,000 voters would be a record, attesting the unusually intense interest in the outcome of the hotly-fought campaign.

In addition to a President and Vice-President, thirty-five members of the Senate will be chosen, together with 432 members of the House of Representatives, and state and local officials by the hundreds. (One Senator and three members of the House were elected in Maine in September.)

the front of the cabin. Much of the cabin's furnishings, including some of the seats, had been torn loose and thrown forward.

THROWN FROM WRECK

Both Fey and Thomas E. Sandegren, first officer, still strapped to their seats, were thrown twenty feet in front of the wreck. Their bodies were badly broken.

John Talmadge, desert news reporter, who hiked into the mountains, returned with the first word that the crew of three and the seven passengers apparently died instantly. Aerial observers located the plane.

United Air Lines listed the dead as:—

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Muir, Detroit; Joe Cassero, Oakland, Calif.; E. A. Dybdahl, Fergus Falls, Minn.; George L. Stevenson, Sacramento, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. L. Wilson, Maywood, Ill.

Crew members, Captain Howard Fey; Thomas Sandegren, first officer, and Evelyn Sandlin, stewardess.

Stevenson was flying to the bedside of his father, who died soon after the plane crashed.

Wheezing in the Chest Points to Bronchitis

The principal symptom of bronchitis is a dry, harsh, hacking cough accompanied by a rapid wheezing and tightness across the chest.

There is a raising of phlegm, especially in the morning. This phlegm is at first of a light colour, but as the trouble progresses becomes yellowish or greenish.

You may find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to help stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, relieve the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, loosen the phlegm and mucous, and aid nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulation.

Price 35c a bottle; the large family size, about 3 times as much, 60c, at all drug counters.

Dearth of Housing Brought to Notice Of Women's Council

Representing Wives of Men in Services, Miss W. Graham Presents Distressing Picture of Homeless Mothers and Children

THE distressingly urgent need of housing for the families of men of the army, navy and air force coming here from other parts of the Dominion was brought to the attention of the Local Council of Women at its regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. The condition was aggravated, speakers noted, by the unwillingness of many landlords to take families with small children.

The matter was brought to the meeting via an emergency resolution from the Women's Auxiliary of the C.C.F., this calling attention to the dearth of housing and asking the council to petition the Prime Minister to renew legislation now on the statute books concerning building loans, and also by a statement made to the meeting later by Miss W. Graham, of the Y.W.C.A. Acting as spokesman for a group of wives of men in the services, Miss Graham cited specific instances of families who had tramped the city in vain for days looking for rooms to accommodate the wife and one or two small children.

"We have not all got a husband or son to give in this war. But some of us could help in this other way by providing accommodation or helping to find it," urged Miss Graham. The matter was temporarily disposed of when Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, the president, made a general request to members to pass on any information about suitable rooms or other accommodation to the Y.W.C.A.

UNDESIRABLE LITERATURE

An exhaustive report by Mrs. William-McManus, convener of the standing committee on cinema and printed matter, showed that she and her committee were constantly on the alert to check as far as possible the distribution of any objectionable magazines or other publications. More visual education in the schools was needed, but the cost of equipment was a stumbling block. Re literature of objectionable character, it was noted that 180 periodicals and many other publications had been banned from Canada since the beginning of the war. While Victoria's tactics were not spectacular, something was being done here to get after the newsdealers handling questionable literature.

More spectacular was the example set by Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, who in taking a determined stand in an attempt to stamp out obscene literature, had recently summoned forty-two newsdealers in the American capital and told them they must cease distribution of such during his term of office. To this end he had assigned certain police to pursue trucks carrying objectionable printed matter. Eighteen of the forty-five magazines listed as objectionable by Mayor LaGuardia were still to be found on the newsstands of Victoria.

The Dominion Government had no jurisdiction over anything printed in Canada. This matter came under the jurisdiction of the various provinces in which the matter was printed. The customs were doing wonderful work, Mrs. McManus testified. The stand taken by the Legion of Decency has helped to bring action in improving both movies and printed matter. She, personally, favored boycotting newsstands dealing in obscene literature.

MR. MAYHEW'S ACTION

Mrs. Madge Hall, the correspondling secretary, reported that R. W. Mayhew, M.P., had replied to the letter sent him recently by the Local Council, this letter being a copy of one sent by the council to the national executive at Ottawa, asking them to protest shipment of bar lead by the Trail smelter to Japan. Mr. Mayhew said he had written to Ottawa asking for information on this point. Mrs. Hall said that she had as yet received no reply to the letter sent recently to the National Council secretary, asking that a protest be lodged with the Minister of Defence concerning the conditions at the Eastern Canadian camp to which the 1st Battalion, The Canadian Scottish Regiment, was sent a few weeks ago.

The meeting was given a report of the interview which Miss Creasor's health committee had had with the members of the City Health Department concerning certain alleged insanitary conditions in hairdressing parlors, restaurant kitchens and street-cleaning methods.

LORD'S PRAYER

Considerable discussion took place on a resolution which the New Westminster Council is submitting to the Autumn meeting of the Provincial Council to take place here on Thursday, November 14. Concerning the reading of The Lord's Prayer in schools, this was introduced by Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin, who recited the history of British Columbia legislation bearing on religious teaching in the schools. The last act, 1936, called for "strictly secular and non-sectarian principles" in education; The Lord's Prayer, however, might be used in the opening of schools. The New Westminster resolution asked that it be made compulsory.

Considerable variance of view was expressed in the discussion of this matter which, Mrs. H. P. Hodges said, had been a controversial question for the past sixty years. She thought it was another instance of parents trying to slough off on teachers the things that should be taught in the home. Mrs. MacLaurin was instructed to send the gist of the discussion and a copy of A. B. Sanders' article in last Saturday's Times to the New Westminster Council.

Mrs. H. P. Hodges and Mrs. Bernstein were appointed alternative delegates to those already appointed to represent the council at the Autumn meeting next week.

The council is sponsoring the nomination of Mrs. A. S. Christie for another term as school trustee, and accepted the invitation for their president, Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, to act as patroness of the benefit concert on Saturday, November 16, for the Lord Mayor's Fund.

Tea, under the management of Mrs. O'Callaghan, Mrs. Jack Abbott, Mrs. Alan Cartwright and helpers, was served in the dining-room, the table being centred with a large bowl of yellow and mauve chrysanthemums, flanked by yellow and mauve tapers in silver holders. The flowers for decoration were the gifts of Mrs. Frank Scott and Mrs. George West. Tea was poured by Mrs. E. Waiter, Mrs. V. C. Best, Mrs. C. H. Popham and Miss Beddis. Home cooking was sold by Mrs. P. Lowther and Mrs. A. R. Price. In the weight-guessing competition, a cake made by Mrs. F. Stacey was won by Mrs. Warren Hastings. A doll dressed and donated by Miss Ann Lowther was won by Miss Elsie Price. Fortune telling was undertaken by Mrs. R. Hepburn. The proceeds derived from the afternoon were $27.55.

A. Jameson in charge of the musical programme. Reports of the Travelers' Aid and the Welfare Department of the Y.W.C.A. were read, these giving instances of the valuable work being done. NEW BABY DIET

Free Booklet Explains

The feeding of "homogenized" vegetable and fruit supplements to the milk diet as protection against nutritional anemia is the latest development in modern infant care.

Under Libby's new way of preparing solid foods, vegetables and fruits are first strained thoroughly and then homogenized. This second process reduces all fibres left after straining into minute, non-irritating particles, and breaks up food cells so that all nutriment is easily digestible by babies' weak digestive juices.

Telegraphist Ralph Shidler, R.C.N.V.R., was best man. After the ceremony, the bridal party adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Chadwick, 17 Boyd Street, where refreshments were served. The two-tiered wedding cake stood in the centre of the supper table, prettily decorated with pink carnations and tapers. Mrs. J. H. Croft and Mrs. George Guy, aunts of the bride, poured tea and coffee, and Mr. Ed. Breckenridge proposed the toast to the bride.

After a honeymoon at Harrison Hot Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Jenks will reside at 788 Dominion Road.

NEWNHAM—McNUTT
BOUTILLIER—McNUTT

At a double wedding held in Esquimalt United Church at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, conducted by Rev. James Hood, the principals were Evelyn Beatrice, second daughter of Mr. Loren McNutt, 733 Admirals Road, and the late Mrs. McNutt, who became the bride of Mr. John William Newnham, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Newnham, Victoria, and Ann Lavinia, Mr. McNutt's youngest daughter, who was married to Mr. Harold Charles Boutillier, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Boutillier, Dawson, Y.T.

Mr. McNutt gave his daughters away. Miss Evelyn McNutt wore a gown of cream satin with a train and a long veil held in place with clusters of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of red roses and violets. Attending her was Mrs. C. Ross in a rose taffeta dress with a ruffled jacket and a matching doll hat and tiny veil, who carried a bouquet of pink snapdragons and chrysanthemums tied with blue and pink ribbon, and Mr. H. Hanson was best man.

Miss Ann McNutt was dressed in white net with the skirt and jacket trimmed with blue forget-me-nots, silver slippers and a three-quarter length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, white carnations and heather.

Mrs. J. Davis was her sister's matron of honor, wearing a frock of blue net and a matching hat, and their cousin, Miss Alvaretta McNutt, was bridesmaid, in a pink net frock with a jacket in a darker shade and a matching doll hat. Both carried bouquets of pink snapdragons.

Mr. Jack Boutillier supported his brother, and Mr. E. Chandler and Mr. Jack Ervine were ushers. Chrysanthemums, dahlias and ferns made a background for the ceremony, and as the register was being signed, Miss Joan Buckingham sang "Because."

The reception was held in the Admirals Road home, where the guests were received by the brides' sister, Mrs. S. Tongue, in a canary green ensemble, assisted by Mrs. P. McKenzie, Mr. Newnham's sister, in black, who both wore pink corsage bouquets. A four-tier cake centred the supper table, which was covered with a lace cloth and lighted with white tapers. Rev. Date Arranged For Chrysanthemum Tea

Sprays, singles, cascades and anemonie type chrysanthemums will be the headliners at the annual chrysanthemum tea scheduled for Saturday, November 9, in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Hostesses are finding there is nothing lovelier than the delicate witchery of these blossoms as floral decorations for the pre-Christmas season. Massed on high or low mantelpiece, against plain or panelled walls, they are gay, distinguished, distinctly new. Last year the mantelpiece in the Empress Hotel tea-room done with buttercup yellow and mauve cascades was much admired. This year, the head gardener, Fred Saunders, plans to work out other designs and groupings helpful to Victorian hostesses looking for something new for their party rooms.

As the chrysanthemum tea is a most popular function on the Empress Hotel social calendar, patrons are asked to make their reservations with the head waiter as soon as possible.

A Neat, Button-Front Style

By MARION MARTIN

Pattern 9510

PERFECT balance is the most important thing to look for in a style for larger women. A fact Marian Martin expertly brings out in pattern 9510—a shirtwaister with beautifully proportioned lines. The slimming, smart button opening that goes right down the front is flanked on either side in the skirt by panels and optional square pockets. Then, coming up to the bodice, the two front shoulder yokes are balanced by a straight-across yoke in back. Softness through the bodice gives becoming lines. Have open shirtwaist sleeves, or make puffs that end in neat little bands. You might like the refreshing touch that contrast collar and sleevebands give this useful frock.

Pattern 9510 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4 yards 35-inch fabric.

Send 20c in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

Bridge Tea Is Planned

Mrs. E. W. Hamber has kindly consented to give her patronage to the bridge tea which will be held by the Junior W.A. of St. Joseph's Hospital at the home of Mrs. Reed Paige Clark, Uplands, on November 16. Mrs. K. Meldram is convener of the party and announced that Mrs. James Adam, Mrs. D. D. McTavish, Mrs. H. A. Goward and Mrs. Alex McDermott will preside at the tea table. Details of the arrangements for the party were discussed at a meeting of the auxiliary at the Nurses' Home last evening.

The members paid silent tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Angus Campbell, founder of the Junior W.A. Reports were given of the rummage sale and barn dance, and the conveners thanked.

Mrs. George Fatt reported the activities of the auxiliary's Red Cross unit and also of assistance given at the Knights of Columbus' canteen.

On the suggestion of Sister Mary Beatrice, the auxiliary decided to purchase wheel chairs and equipment for the children's ward.

The annual children's Christmas tea will be held on December 14 at the Empress Hotel and reservations should be made at the hotel. It was arranged that there should be an entertainment for the children during the afternoon. The next meeting will be held on December 2.

Whist Drive Held In Aid of Hospital

Under the auspices of the board of the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital and to raise funds for new equipment for the operating room, a progressive whist drive and dance was held recently in the Mahon Hall, Ganges.

Twenty-three tables took part in play, A. J. Eaton acting as master of ceremonies for the evening. The ladies' first prize went to Mrs. G. J. Mouat; the second, after first tying with Mrs. H. May, to Mrs. Guy Cunningham; the consolation to Mrs. Harold Day. The winner of the men's first prize was Dr. E. H. Lawson; second, W. Adams; consolation, W. Palmer.

During the evening the contest was held for the $100 war savings certificate, which had been anonymously donated to the hospital and by which the fund benefited to the extent of approximately $300. The winner of the certificate was J. H. Williams, Calgary.

The floral decoration of the refreshment room and tables was carried out with lovely yellow chrysanthemums, and supper, by which $25 was cleared, was in the hands of the hospital auxiliary, with Mrs. D. Fyvie, as convener, assisted by Mrs. W. M. Mouat, Mrs. J. J. Anderson, Mrs. G. St. Denis, Misses A. and M. Lees. For the dance which followed the card game, a local orchestra was in attendance.

SPEAKER LAUDS PLANE TRAVEL

M. Leo Sweeney Describes Comfort and Ease Found Air Liners

Having traveled over a million miles, M. Leo Sweeney, managing-director of the Western Canada Cooperage Company, Limited, Vancouver, addressed the Victoria Gyro Club in the Empress Hotel, yesterday, on the evolution of travel.

Giving a brief synopsis of early travel in automobiles, boats and trains, Mr. Sweeney described the present form of airplane travel, telling of the ease and speed of air travel, with the resultant time saved.

Having made a complete trip from Vancouver to New York, with intermediate stops all along the route, including such Canadian centres as Montreal and Toronto, the speaker said that the Western air terminus holds its own with any in Canada, all points considered.

AIR LINE HOSTESSES

He commended the air line hostesses, who performed the work of several persons, including porter, cook, purser, and trained nurse, with a smiling efficiency that belied the importance of their posts.

"With regard to scenery," he said, "the trip from Vancouver to Victoria is one of the most scenic on the continent."

Telling of the prevalent idea about the supposed danger of air travel, Mr. Sweeney said that the air lines hold the place of the second least dangerous form of travel, only exceeded by the railroads.

He also mentioned the ultimate in comforts of travel to be found on the new trains, with particular regard to the new streamliners in the United States.

He was thanked for his talk by Everett Taylor.

TOO bad to spend money trying to make a good impression—and then make a bad one! But that's exactly what Tom had done. NO ONE escapes this possibility, because we all perspire from a pint to three pints daily, and in changeable weather, stuffy, overheated rooms increase this perspiration. Left on the body, these sweat deposits soon turn stale—decompose. Then YOU have "B.O."

The adult skin has 2 to 3 million sweat glands which act as a cooling system, giving off from 1 to 3 pints of perspiration daily—even when we are sitting still. If perspiration stopped, we would die from hyper-pyrexia (heat stroke).

Because much of the water in perspiration evaporates, we do not see or feel it—especially in changeable weather. Heated rooms, lack of fresh air, and heavy clothes quickly decompose this sweat deposit—turn it stale—cause offensive "B.O. (Body Odor).

Careful people stop "B.O." before it starts, by using Lifebuoy. Lifebuoy contains an exclusive deodorizing ingredient not found in any other leading toilet soap. Used in your daily bath, Lifebuoy stops "B.O.", its peppy, purifying lather washes stale perspiration deposits away! Start playing safe—with Lifebuoy!

TO BROADCAST NAVAL CONTEST

C.B.C. Will Carry Amateur Entertainment From Empire on November 30

Talented singers, actors, musicians and mimics from the Royal Canadian Naval Barracks at Esquimalt will broadcast over the C.B.C.'s Western network, on Saturday, November 30, from 9:00 to 9:30 p.m.

A monster amateur programme, lasting two full days, November 29 and 30, has been arranged for the Empire Theatre, and the C.B.C. has scheduled a thirty-minute pick-up from the stage of the theatre on the last day.

The programme has been planned to raise funds for a sailors' home in the Capital City of British Columbia.

The show will be directed by Petty Officer Sidney Norman, who, for some months, has been conducting an amateur show in the barracks for the officers and ratings stationed on the Pacific Coast.

Featured, too, will be the band of the R.C.N. Pacific Coast Station, directed by Paymaster-Lieutenant H. Cuthbert, R.C.N.V.R. The band will be heard in "Royal Canadian Navy March," which was written by John Rowland, Victoria. The march has been adopted as the official R.C.N. marching song.

It is expected that young amateurs from all over Western Canada will be heard on the broadcast.

Automobile Club Opposes Increase In Gasoline Tax

FOLLOWING a special meeting of directors of the Victoria Automobile Club, held yesterday afternoon, J. V. Johnson, president of the club, announced that the directors had passed a unanimous resolution opposing any further increase in the gasoline tax for the Province of British Columbia.

Montreal's Rebuilt Hockey Club Battles Bruins to One-All Score Before Large Crowd in Canadian City—Bert Gardiner Stars in Goal—Detroit Red Wings Defeat Americans

By ROBERT CLARKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The starting barrier has gone up on a new National Hockey League race, and it seems significant, although it still is too early to predict how the teams will be running in the stretch, that New York Rangers are away to a quick break from the gate.

The Rangers opened the season auspiciously Saturday night in Toronto by defeating the Maple Leafs, 4-1. In other openers Sunday night Detroit Red Wings defeated New York Americans, 4-2, while Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens played to a 1-1 overtime draw.

The only club yet to get into action are Paul Thompson's Chicago Black Hawks, who start the season at home on Thursday against the Americans.

The dollars rolled freely across the ticket counters in the opening games. At the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, a crowd of 12,805 paid-customers watched the Rangers and Leafs, while the paid attendance at Montreal for the Bruins-Canadiens match was 11,784. Around 7,000 persons turned out at the Olympia in Detroit to watch the Red Wings win.

The crowd at Toronto was the largest for an opening night there since the big building was opened officially in 1931, while the turnout at Montreal was described as the best house in a half-dozen seasons.

ADD THREE GOALS

The game in Toronto was won for the Rangers and lost for the Leafs by a penalty two minutes and eight seconds from the end to Bingo Kampman, of the Leafs. While Kampman was off the Rangers scored twice and then added another just a second from the end of the game.

The Ranger goals went to Alex Shibicky, Babe Pratt, Bryan Hextall and Phil Watson, in that order, with Pratt getting the winner while Kampman was serving his penalty. The only Toronto goal was scored by Gordie Drillon, who tallied, along with Shibicky, in the first period.

The most surprising opening night feat, however, was turned in by Canadiens. Made over almost entirely from the team that finished a poor last in the 1939-40 season, the Montrealers battled grimly all the way against the Bruins with Goalie Bert Gardiner emerging as the star of the game.

Gardiner, one of the eight men in the Canadiens' line-up, was beaten only by Milt Schmidt in the rousing tussle. Schmidt's goal came late in the third period, rubbing out one scored near the end of the second period by Hector (Toe) Blake, leading scorer for Canadiens in the past two seasons.

At Detroit, the Red Wings broke loose after a scoreless first period to tally twice in the second period and twice more in the third while the Americans were confined to single goals in both these sessions. Both New York goals went to Johnny (Peanuts) O'Flaherty, former Toronto amateur, while Mud Bruneteau, Syd Howe, Alex Motter and Don Grosso scored for the Wings.

CORNELL IS STILL TOPS

Holds Lead in Polling by Football Experts—Minnesota Is Second

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP).—Mid-Western elevens still are breathing on Cornell's neck in the 1940 United States college football ranking race, but this week it is Minnesota's Gophers who have displaced Notre Dame as closest pursuers of the Ithacans.

The fifth of the weekly Associated Press ranking polls, with 178 football experts participating, finds Cornell on top, as it has been since the start of the season. Cornell, three games away from its second successive season without defeat, was placed first on 119 ballots and second on twenty-four for 1,560 points.

But the way Minnesota has worked its way through an awesome schedule put the Gophers in second place, only 140 points away with 1,420 points.

The standing (points figured on 10-9-8-7-6, etc., basis):

1. Cornell, 1,560; 2. Minnesota, 1,420; 3. Michigan, 1,258; 4. Texas A. and M., 1,185; 5. Tennessee, 929; 6. Stanford, 906; 7. Notre Dame, 769; 8. Boston College, 527; 9. Georgetown, 347; 10. Northwestern, 316.

"Martha, is it possible you are thinking of getting married?" said her mistress.

"Yes, ma'am," admitted Martha.

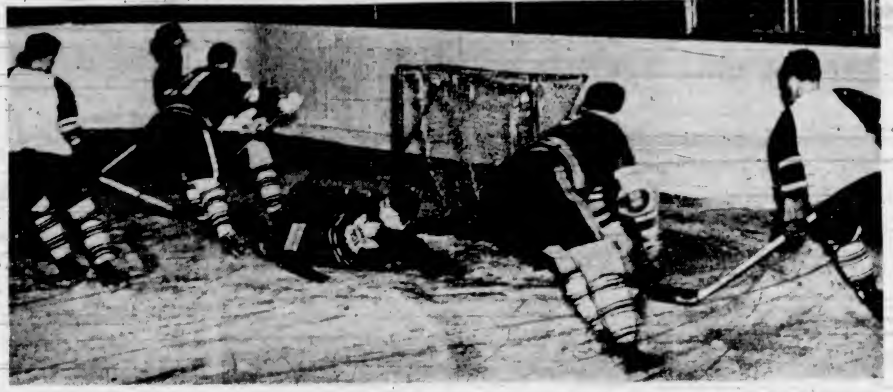

"Not to that young fellow who has been calling on you lately?"

"Yes, ma'am, he's the one."

"But you've only known him three weeks. Do you think that is long enough to know a man before taking such a step?"

"Well," answered Martha, "it isn't as if he was some new fellow. He's well recommended. A girl I know was engaged to him for quite a long time."

Action as the Leafs Finished Training

Here's some action around one of the nets as the Toronto Maple Leafs terminated their training for the opening game of the hockey season which took place Saturday night in the Canadian city. Leafs dropped the decision, 4-1, when the New York Rangers staged a great scoring splurge in the last three minutes, which netted them three quick goals. In the above picture the Leafs' second string goaltender, Bastien, is seen sliding out of his net to block a fast, low shot. Toronto officials expect plenty from this youngster as the season continues, and some of the experts who have seen him in action state that he may replace Turk Broda before long.

Victoria United Will Travel For Mainland Game

VICTORIA United, local entry in the Pacific Coast Football League, will travel to Vancouver this week to oppose St. Andrews in a scheduled fixture at Con Jones Park on Saturday. Locals will train tomorrow at Royal Athletic Park at 8 o'clock, and step aboard the boat Friday night for the Mainland city. On Sunday the United made their first impression in the win column, when they nosed out Nanaimo, 3-2, in an Up-Island match. With all of their regulars available for the visit to the Terminal City, locals are looking forward to chalking up their second straight victory.

PORTLAND WINS HOCKEY TUSSLE

By The Associated Press

The 1940 Pacific Coast Hockey League season got under way Sunday night when the Portland Buckaroos welcomed Spokane back into the circuit by handing the Bombers a 4-0 defeat in Spokane.

Two new goalies made their Pacific Northwest debut in the loosely played contest, Porky Levine of the Bombers and Vince Javoric of the Buckaroos.

The Bucs got their first goal at seven minutes in the first period when Louie Holmes took a pass from Eddie Oulette on a five-man power play while the Bombers were minus a man.

Their second score came at 17:28 of the same period when Ronnie Martin scored unassisted. Oulette shot between the legs of three players in a dog fight around the net for the third counter in the third period. Jimmy McFadden scored in 15:42 of the final period on an assist from Walt McCartney.

Sunday's score:
Victoria United 3, Nanaimo 2.

NANAIMO, Nov. 4 (CP).—Victoria United posted its first win in the Pacific Coast Soccer League this season yesterday by defeating Nanaimo, 3-2.

It was also Nanaimo's first defeat, Jimmy Knight's team having held two Mainland teams—St. Saviours and St. Andrews—to draws in previous encounters.

Throughout it was a close-fought game. Nanaimo looked well in the first half, particularly after Jimmy Gold booted past Goalie Moss after about twenty minutes to give them a 1-0 lead. All Victoria's goals were scored in the second half, the winning tally being a penalty shot by Cosier.

The penalty was Cosier's second goal, his first being scored soon after the second half began, to tie the score at 1-1.

Cosier's first opportunity came when Goalie Johnstone leaped to stop a scorcher driven at the Nanaimo net by Morgan. Johnstone made the save with his fast jump, but failed to throw clear as he fell and Cosier closed from the right to kick over the prostrate goalie.

NANAIMO IN LEAD

Shortly afterwards Parkes put Nanaimo ahead 2-1 with a goal which brought roars from the home crowd, but Travis evened the score for Victoria almost immediately after the ball was centred.

The final goal of the game was scored by Cosier on a penalty shot after he was dumped by Fat Edmunds in a corner.

It was a clean, hard game, and the only other penalty was awarded to Nanaimo when Easterbrook was tripped. Adam Watson took the kick, but failed to connect.

LINE-UPS

Victoria United—Moss; Wilkinson, Leggett; Moon, Sage, Barnes; Travis, Blakeburn, Cosier, Morgan, Hope.

Nanaimo—Johnstone; Bob Watson, Edmunds; Johns, Thompson, McGregor; Easterbrook, Parkes, Gold, Henton, Adam Watson.

Spares—Davis and Kilby.

Referee—Jim Norman.

Jack Purcell May Be Seen In Action On Victoria Court

JACK Purcell, world's badminton champion, is contemplating making a tour of Canada for the Red Cross, and will be seen in action in Victoria, if the proposed tour comes off. Correspondence has passed between Canadian Badminton Association officials and Dr. Arthur Poyntz, president of the Lower Vancouver Island Badminton League on the proposed visit here, but the entire matter is held up awaiting confirmation from the national body.

TWO FIXTURES BILLED MONDAY

Rugby Double-Header at Macdonald Park—Proceeds for Red Cross

Bitter rivals for supremacy on the Rugby field in the days when the two units were members of the N.P.A.M., 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, Royal Canadian Artillery, and 2nd Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, will renew their ancient feud when they meet Monday at Macdonald Park. The soldier fifteens will play in one half of the special Armistice Day double header arranged by navy, army and air force executive officers and members of the Victoria Rugby Union.

The second portion of the double bill will bring together the Navy, captained by Petty Officer Bill Smith, "rep" halfback, and the Garrison, a team composed of players from the R.C.A.F. and composite units stationed at Work Point Barracks.

The all-army battle will be staged on the top field at the James Bay enclosure, with the sailors and the soldiers meeting on the lower pitch. Both games are set for 2:45 o'clock.

In accordance with the wishes of the services representatives attending the Victoria Rugby Union meetings, net proceeds from the games will be donated to the Canadian Red Cross. Color will be added to the show by the appearance of army bands.

Rangers	1	0	0	1	0	0	1

Sunday's Score

Victoria West 2, Victoria City 2.

Doing all of the scoring in the final forty-five minutes of play, Victoria West and Victoria City on Sunday battled to a 2-2 draw in a Garrison Cup soccer match at Bullen Park. The deadlock was the third of the current season's play, and left six teams in the Victoria and District Football League all on an even footing in the race for the laurels won last year by the greenshirts.

Wests had a distinct margin in the first-half territorial play, but failed to capitalize on their scoring opportunities.

In the final stanza City showed in front twice, only to have the greenshirts come back and knot the score and finish up by splitting the points. Gent fired home the first tally of the game, and Gordie Cooper netted the equalizer for the Wests. Lewis' boys went ahead a second time when Sage sagged the hemp, and then Johnny Munroe came up with the final tally just before full time. Cockerell refereed.

INDOOR POLOISTS

Members of the Victoria Indoor Polo club held their first practice of the season on Sunday afternoon in the Horse Show Building, Willows.

Next Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock sharp, the opening match will be held.

Victoria Fighter Will Turn Professional

JACK PATTERSON

VICTORIA amateur fisticuffer, who last night announced his intention of joining the professional ranks after a successful sojourn as a Simon-pure fighter. The local boy is present British Columbia heavyweight champion, and this year was runner-up to the Canadian titleholder, dropping an unpopular call in the finals in the East. Fighting last week at Vancouver, Patterson registered a three-round technical knockout over Glen Prohaska, highly rated Portland fighter. The Victoria boy makes the jump into professional company on Friday evening at New Westminster, where he will appear on the semi-windup of a card being staged by Ted Moore, Mainland promoter, well known to Victoria fans. In training for his professional debut, Patterson is working out with Frank Glover, former Mainland fisticuffer.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Temple of the False Tooth—The Shvedazin or Golden Relic House, on the Burma Road, a white structure ornamented with a flight of dragon-tailed stairs, was built to house a replica of one tooth from the mouth of Gautama Budda, which had been presented to the king by a Buddhist fraternity of Ceylon. The king knew that the relic was not genuine, yet so great is the veneration of Buddha that this curious temple was constructed to house the false tooth. Burmese who suffer from toothache come here to obtain relief.

Challedon Assured Of Handicap Title For 1940 Campaign

Has Scored Five Victories Out of Seven Starts—Eight-Thirty Has Won More Money—Bimelech Tops List With $110,005—Leaders In Various Divisions Are Given

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP).—Only Challedon among the handicap horses, and Level Best among the two-year-old fillies seem to have definite claims on the racing championships of 1940. Not in years has there been such a wide-open set-up.

Among the three-year-old colts, you have to choose from among Bimelech, Mioland, Gallahadion, Sweepida, Sirocco, Your Change and Fenelon. The three-year-old filly race is a wide open affair among Salaminia, Fairy Chant and Damaged Goods.

And right now it looks as though the throne for the two-year-old colts will have to be a three-seater at least, because Our Boots, Whirlaway and last week's Pimlico Futurity winner, Bold Irishman, all have a claim staked out.

Challedon has the best right to the handicap title. He has won five of seven starts this year, including last week's Pimlico Special. Yet, Hash has finished in front of him twice. And, while Eight Thirty is retired for the year, he won more money than any of the others.

BOTH INJURED

At the start of the year, the boys were willing to hand the three-year-old crown to Bimelech on a platter. But Gallahadion beat him in the Kentucky Derby, and Sirocco ran his legs off in the Arlington Classic before his hoof injury was discovered. Then Fenelon hit his peak, but he, like Bimmie, was injured. Then it was Your Chance, but he turned out to be what trackmen call an "excuse horse," mostly finishing second and "he would have won if—." Finally, Mioland, the internationally-bred colt from Oregon, reached his top form, and right now is second only to Bimelech among the year's leading money winners.

Among the fillies, Fairy Chant, victor in the San Margareta Handicap in California, and the Gazelle and Pimlico Oaks in the East, tops the money winners with $46,750. But Hal Price Headley's Salaminia definitely is the best of the lot over a distance.

Level Best's claim among the two-year-old fillies is based on the fact she won six stakes, was beaten only once by another filly in eleven outings, and has never finished out of the money.

BIG GAMES SCHEDULED

Three Important American Grid Matches Saturday—Huskies to Play

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP).—Minnesota plays Michigan next Saturday; the Texas Aggies encounter Southern Methodist, and Stanford meets Washington. When these games are over the long-suffering football "experts" may have some idea of who is who in United States football this season.

Minnesota and Michigan are the unbeaten and untied survivors of the titanic struggle for the Western Conference championship. The Texas Aggies and Stanford have equally perfect records and high ranking. S.M.U., unbeaten, has been tied once, but figures to give the Aggies the battle of the season for Southwest Conference honors; while Washington, defeated by Minnesota at the start of the season, is right behind Stanford in the Pacific Coast Conference race.

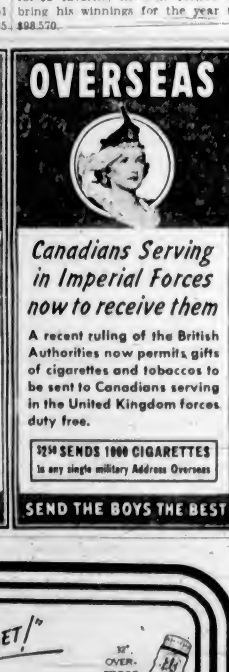

Ranking with these on the list of unbeaten and untied candidates for the mythical national title are Cornell, Georgetown, Boston College, Notre Dame and Tennessee. Penn State, Lafayette and Hardin Simmons also have clean slates, and Texas Tech has only one tie against record. They don't appear to rank quite as high as the others, however.

Mioland Races To Fine Victory

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (CP).—Charles S. Howard's Mioland wound up the Eastern racing season in smashing style by winning the $20,000 added Westchester Handicap at Empire City.

Mioland waded a mile and three sixteenths through heavy going to beat such stars as William Woodward's Foxborough, juvenile champion of England two years ago, and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Hash. A $4.10-for-$2 favorite, he won $15,950 to bring his winnings for the year to $98,570.

WAR EFFORT IS BEING HELPED

Saanich Board of Trade and Other Groups to Aid Worthy Cause

The Saanich Board of Trade, in conjunction with other organizations in the district, is planning an entertainment and publicity drive in aid of the sale of War Savings Certificates. This entertainment will be held at the Agricultural Hall, Saanichton, on Friday at 8 p.m. The affair will take the form of a concert and dance, with cards for the elders.

The Brentwood, South Saanich, and Royal Oak Women's Institutes are arranging for the concert programme and are also providing the supper for the evening.

The North and South Saanich Agricultural Society and the Saanich Pioneers are putting both their halls at the service of the committee. Church and fraternal organizations are co-operating to make the affair a success. While it is not desired to make a large sum of money, it is planned that the proceeds be donated to the Dominion Government for war work. The main purpose, however, is to stimulate the distribution of war savings stamps and certificates throughout the district.

CLOSING DATE IS ANNOUNCED

Badminton Clubs Must File Entries Not Later Than November 20

Representatives from local shuttle clubs, in session last night at a meeting of the Lower Vancouver Island Badminton League, set Wednesday, November 20, as the final date for filing entries for the 1940-41 season.

Present plans call for the operation of an "A" division to replace the first and second divisions of earlier years. Third, fourth and fifth divisions will be carried on as in the past. In the new section, players from the two senior divisions will be amalgamated, but not more than four first division shuttlers, two women and two men, will be permitted to play on any one club.

Indications are that Victoria, Willows and Brentwood will probably play in the new section, with prospects of plenty of entries in the lower divisions.

GREEKS FORCING ENEMY RETREAT

Athens, but was hotly pursued by Greek and British pursuit ships.

The Greeks said five Italian planes were shot down during the day, while one Greek plane failed to return.

RAIDS ON SALONIKA

Reports from Salonika said the Italians raided that important Aegean port city twice during the day and three Italian planes were shot down. It was said one fell in pieces in the city.

The Greek shock troops advancing into Albania claimed capture of many prisoners and much war materials.

Fighting flared all up and down the 100-mile Albanian border, but the most intense struggles were declared to be at the two ends, around Mount Morava on the north and in the vicinity of the Kalamas River on the south.

The Greeks counter-attacked the Italian invaders north of the Kalamas River today after withstanding an Italian tank charge.

An Italian counter-attack against the Evzones in the northeast sector was said to have been repulsed.

Nearer the coast, on the Epirus front, where the Italians were said to have made their only important gains in eight days, the Greeks claimed they were holding their strongly-fortified positions against one Fascist thrust after another.

(A Reuter's News Agency dispatch from Athens said the arrival of the 1,120-ton British escort vessel Wryneck at Piraeus, port of Athens, had been announced officially.)

The Belgrade newspaper Pravda quoted Greek advices to the effect British aid to Greece would include three army divisions—45,000 men. Britain has confirmed the landing of some troops on the island of Crete.)

POUNDING SUPPLY BASE

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 5 (AP).—Greece's northern army in a series of daring counter-attacks has surrounded 30,000 Italians in the vicinity of Koritza, Fascist supply base in Albania, and is pounding the town with heavy artillery from newly-won positions on surrounding peaks, Greek sources said early today.

Matching this achievement, they reported the Greek southern army had occupied the south bank of the Kalamas River, from which the Greeks were forced during the first days of the eight-day-old Italian invasion.

Besides the heights dominating Koritza, the Greeks said their forces had occupied Biglista, Albanian town three miles from the frontier.

A Greek general staff announcement received here said thirty Italian tanks were captured during an unsuccessful Italian counter-offensive yesterday.

One unconfirmed report said the Greeks took 1,200 prisoners.

The Greek advance seriously threatened an Italian force of 30,000 around Koritza, some military observers said.

Italian communication lines with advanced posts were reported cut by Greek raiding parties thoroughly familiar with the mountain country.

Meanwhile, British and Greek planes were reported to have bombed heavily the Albanian town of Acryrocastro and Italian positions west of Ioannina.

CONFIRM TROOP LANDING

LONDON, Nov. 4 (CP).—The landing of British troops on the Greek Island of Crete was confirmed officially today, but beyond a laconic announcement to that effect, the British people knew little of the scope of their aid to invaded Greece.

A Greek spokesman said it was believed that British forces in Crete included land, naval and air units. This was not officially verified.

Some light is expected to be shed in a public statement by Prime Minister Churchill when Parliament meets again.

An editorial in The Daily Mail noted that the first disclosure of the Crete landing came from Athens, and observed that "concealment of information from the enemy can become an obsession."

(The Belgrade newspaper Pravda quoted Greek newspapers as saying that British aid to Greece will include three army divisions—45,000 men.)

Diplomatic and military observers here were mystified by indications of impotence in the Italian attack in Greece after months of preparation and a full week of fighting.

Apart from the resistance put up by the Greeks, observers suggested the Italians' failure to crack Greece's border defences might be explained most reasonably by the possibility that Mussolini is relying on air raids to break civilian morale and set the stage for installation of a Government willing to hand over the strategic points demanded by the Italian ultimatum, holding off his offensive meanwhile.

BOMBINGS MENTIONED

ROME, Nov. 4 (AP).—A dispatch to Stefani, Italian news and propaganda agency, from the Albanian frontier, claimed tonight Italian aircraft bombed and machine-gunned Greek tropo concentrations, batteries and trenches, while Italian troops continued their advance into Greece, which they invaded a week ago.

(Athens dispatches indicated the Greeks were holding firm, beating back Italian attacks in some sections of the front and at others scoring advances.)

The brief Stefani dispatch claimed Italian planes continued hammering Greek positions along the mountainous country.

Trains carrying military equipment, batteries, and Greek trenches were reported hit by bombs.

The planes bombed Greek troop concentrations in villages as well as turning their machine guns on them, it was claimed.

HOME DEFENCE CORPS

The regular business meeting of Burnside Home Defence Corps will be held at the close of the regular drill practice at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Erskine Hall, Harriett Road.

Movie Weddings Take Long Time to Arrange

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4 (AP).—Weddings as staged for the movies . . . oftimes are much more difficult to perform than genuine ceremonies . . . but they're also a lot easier to get out of than some real marriages.

Usually, actual weddings require only a comparatively short time to perform, but the ceremony Rosalind Russell and Melvyn Douglas participated in for the filming of "This Thing Called Love" lasted three full days.

And, counting the time it took to build the interior of an imitation church on the movie sound set . . . it required fifteen days to complete the scene . . . that will have a screen time of only one minute.

Once upon a time, movie studios utilized real churches for film wedding ceremonies . . . shooting at night when no religious services were in progress . . . Now they find it simpler and cheaper to build their own church interiors . . . and sometimes entire artificial church buildings. They say they thus can better control lighting, accoustics and camera angles . . . and are not limited in working hours.

MANY CEREMONIES

Interior of the church used for the Russell-Douglas "wedding" was modeled after that of a well-known New York Cathedral . . . it was the twentieth screen ceremony for Douglas . . . and ninth for Miss Russell . . . but Father Neal Dodd has far outdistanced both those marks . . . for him it was his 300th movie wedding ceremony. . . .

Silly sailies . . . cigarettes shown in containers in the movies are made of wood . . . otherwise, the extra players would probably smoke them all up . . . magazines also are merely dummies . . . beautiful covers enclosing blank pages . . . some movie theatres now are going in for a new flat light screen, which is impervous to heat or cold . . . and can be wased with soap and water . . . so carefully must artists at Walt Disney's studio guard against collection of dust on surfaces of their inked sketches, drawn on celluloid sheets, and thus keep it from appearing on the finished film, that a "de-dusting" chamber has been installed where loose particles on clothing are blown off by high pressure air jets and drawn down a grating in the floor . . .

PERFUME FOR LIONS

Short Short—Nine big lions being used in the filming of "Carnival" get a perfume bath every day—and like it. . . . To keep odors and flies from cluttering up the sound set atmosphere, Propman Gil Kissell first annointed the beasts with a strong-smelling spray, which, in the warm, close quarters, soon got to be pretty doggone obnoxious, even to the lions. . . . Finally Kissell found a sweet-smelling solution to the problem by adding perfume to the mixture . . . and now the lions are happy. . . .

Assorted Asides — Retrenchment pops up in the strangest places. . . . Wallace Beery's latest film as "Bad Man of Wyoming," but the studio slashed it to just "Wyoming." . . . Now they're using the rest of the marquee bulbs for his next picture—"Bad Man." . . . The public shortly is to be given a healthy dose of "Bad Man." Flickers, however . . . seven pictures of the "outlaw" type, dealing with the lives of the James boys, the Daltons and others now are in production . . . and several others are on the fire. . . .

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, screen heavy, has been killed off in every one of his last eight pictures . . . Alexis Smith, blonde ex-model newcomer to filmland from Vancouver, holds the distinction of being perhaps the only actress in Hollywood by the name of Smith . . . Frank Morgan, appearing simultaneously in three pictures now in production on the MGM lot, contemplates buying a bicycle to make his daily rounds . . .

Cecil B. DeMille, the director, is still laughing at the recent incident when, unrecognized, he arrived home one night to find a party of sightseers in front of his house, stopped to hear what the guides had to say, and then paid twenty-five cents for a movie star booklet in which he found a complete floor plan of his own house.

STILL USING WOMEN SPIES

May Be As Active in Espionage in This War as In the Last

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP). — Women spies may be as active in this war as they were in the first Great War, but to date the work of fifth columnists has been more in the limelight.

The Nazi-developed science of causing disaffection, terror and confusion among soldiers and citizens of invaded countries has grown to rank as a major job of enemy agents.

In Britain there are 17,700 aliens held in detention camps as potential fifth columnists, the kind police fear might sabotage factories, signal objectives to enemy airplanes and spread defeatist talk.

Fifth columnists in countries overrun by Germany found that dumb looks and records as anti-Nazi refugees were better than expensive wardrobes and friends in high places.

IN FANCY CLOTHES

Fancy clothes have turned up in only one case—the arrest of Anna Wolkoff, Russian charmer and daughter of a former Russian admiral, who once operated a fashionable London dress shop.

Anna, with Tyler Kent, twenty-nine-year-old dismissed cipher clerk in the United States Embassy in London, is charged with violating the Official Secrets Act. Kent has been convicted and his sentence postponed until the Wolkoff trial is completed.

In two other espionage trials two men and a woman were convicted and another woman was acquitted.

Stephen C. Held, an Irish Republican sympathizer, was brought into Dublin criminal court May 24 by police, who produced a soiled parachute, the plans of an Irish airdrome, a secret code, $20,000 in United States money, a radio transmitter and a German air force cap and badge.

SHELTERING SPY

The prosecution said these articles were found in a raid on Held's home and charged him with sheltering a German spy. Held was convicted and sentenced to five year's imprisonment for "aiding an unknown person to obtain information prejudicial to the State."

Before the Held trial started, Mrs. Iseult Stuart, wife of the Irish poet and novelist, Francis Stuart, was accused of obtaining clothes for a parachutist. She was acquitted.

Mrs. Louisa Ingram, forty-two, German-born wife of a Royal Air Force sergeant and domestic servant of a British naval officer, was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. She told the Portsmouth court, July 1, that she wanted to see Germany win, and police quoted her as saying Hitler would make Sir Oswald Mosley, Fascist leader who is now in jail, the boss of Great Britain.

Mrs. Ingram was convicted of trying to get soldiers to steal arms to aid invaders if they ever came to Britain. Convicted with her was William Swift, an employee of the Portsmouth Naval Dockyard.

CHANGED HIS TUNE

Stationmaster: "Take your time, sir, it's a few minutes late."

"Late? It's disgraceful the way these railways are run!"

BRITAIN LOSES MERCHANT SHIPS

1927 for the White Star Line. Both vessels had been converted into armed merchant cruisers at the beginning of the war.

The Admiralty gave no details concerning destruction of the two submarines, but said one was sent to the bottom after a hunt in which the Royal Air Force co-operated.

The Italian High Command acknowledged Sunday that two submarines had failed to return to their base. At the outset of the war Italy had about 100 submarines, but British air and naval forces are estimated to have sent at least twenty-five to the bottom. Two perhaps three of these were sunk during the Summer by a Canadian airman, Acting Flight-Lieutenant William Weir Campbell, of Victoria, B.C., who was released from Greece last week, where he had been interned for some weeks after making a forced landing.

The Admiralty also announced the trawler Tilburyness had been sunk after a brush with enemy aircraft. No details of casualties were given.

QUEEN AIDS FUND

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP).—Queen Elizabeth has sent a cigarette case, and a piece of bomb which recently hit Buckinham Palace as a personal gift, to the United States. The case will be raffled November 7 to aid in the purchase of children's cots for London air raid shelters. The bomb fragment will go on display.

Guaranteed to knock the blues into that proverbial "cocked hat," "Dulcy" tells the story of the exploits of one Dulcy Ward, wealthy, good-looking, but possessed with a faculty for getting everyone whom she contacts into maddening complications. How she goes about arranging for her heart interest to sell his airplane motor to one of the largest manufacturing concerns in existence makes for hilarious entertainment from start to finish.

ATLAS THEATRE Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize drama, "Our Town," which ends today at the Atlas Theatre, is one of the most refreshing and unusual stories ever screened. CADET THEATRE Two of Hollywood's finest songbirds are teamed in the co-starring roles of "If I Had My Way," now showing at the Cadet Theatre. The songsters are Bing Crosby and twelve-year-old Gloria Jean, who made her debut in "The Under-Pup."

The film, which was directed by Alexander Hall, has been hailed for its scintillant romance. Alan Marshal, Eugene Pallette and Una O'Connor head the featured cast.

Calgary Bronks, members of the Western Inter-Provincial Canadian Football Union, and now engaged in a play-off series with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, may be seen in action here before Victoria Revellers wind up their activities on the local gridiron.

It is understood that plans are under way to have the Bronks play a two-game series, one on the Mainland against the Vancouver Bulldogs, and a second and final battle here with the unbeaten Revellers as their opponents. Of course, a lot will depend on the anty requested by the Calgarians. If they are willing to make the trip for anything like a reasonable guarantee, their chances of playing here will be much better.

Stocks Attract Buying Support On Wall Street

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP).—The stock market attracted buying support after a brief midday sell-off in steels and other industrials had knocked down prices fractions to more than 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks managed to finish with a net advance of .1 of a point at 46 which compared with 44.8 a month ago. Of 853 individual issues traded, 329 were up, 324 down and 200 unchanged. Transfers amounted to 1,245,280 shares against 1,258,905 last Friday.

Many commission houses' customers' commitments in the forenoon pending tomorrow's national election, when the stock exchange will be closed along with other major financial markets.

Constructive business was offset to some extent by further earnings statements which exemplified the effect mounting taxes were having on corporation net. War news again was in the background as a market motivator.

Among the day's encouraging items were: This week's steel mill operations were estimated up .3 of a point at 96 per cent of capacity; another new record on the present basis of compilation; General Motors directors, after the close, voted a dividend on the common $1 a share, the same as paid in June and September, and sales of new automobiles were said to be holding at a high mark.

According to Culbertson

LAST WEDNESDAY'S QUESTION

Question 21: You are East, defending against a three no trump contract. (Your side made no bid.) Your partner leads the spade jack. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

Dummy
♠ A 5
♥ Q 9 4
♦ K Q 10 8 2
♣ K 7 3

East, You
♠ Q 7
♥ K 6 3 2
♦ A 4 3
♣ J 5 4 2

Dummy's spade ace is played on first trick. What card do you play and why?

Answer: The spade queen. With the strength in your hand and dummy, it is extremely probable that your partner has no entry outside of the spade suit. But there is a substantial chance that he held the K-J-10-8-x of spades, with declarer originally holding the 9-x-x-x. If that is so, you must unblock the queen. Then your seven spot through declarer will permit West to run the whole suit, whereas he would be unable to overtake the queen without setting up declarer's nine (20 points demerit for playing the spade seven).

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question 26: You are West, declarer at a four spade contract, the bidding having gone:

North	East	South	West
3 ♥	Pass	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Your hand and dummy are as follows:

Declarer, West	Dummy
♠ A K Q J 10 8	♠ 9 5 2
♥ 7 3	♥ K 5 4 2
♦ A Q	♦ 7 4 3
♣ Q J 9	♣ K 10 2

North leads the heart ace, all follow. North then leads the heart queen. What card do you play from dummy, and why?

TODAY'S HAND

North, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

SOUTH

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	2 ♣
2 ♠	3 ♣	Pass	Pass
4 ♥	Double (final bid)

North's bidding was highly aggressive, considering that his partner had failed even to keep the one heart bid open, but it took splendid defence on the part of East to defeat the game contract.

The ace of clubs was opened, followed by a second round, which declarer ruffed. The king of trumps went to West's ace, and another club was led and ruffed. Now while there was still a trump in dummy to protect declarer from another force in clubs, the king of spades was laid down. Had East won this with the ace, the defenders could have thrown their cards in the waste basket. West's spade jack would drop on the queen and dummy's 10 would be the entry to the diamond suit. But East was alert. He held up his ace. Declarer was now helpless to avoid the loss of two spade tricks. He drew the adverse trumps, but even though he followed with the spade queen, felling West's jack, East, by again holding up the ace, preserved his A-9 for two sure tricks.

TOMORROW'S HAND

Woolworth Store Will Be Doubled

Early in the new year the F. W. Woolworth Company will begin reconstruction of the Woolworth Building on Douglas Street with a view to doubling the size of the store on the ground floor. Notice to vacate has already been given covering the required Douglas Street frontage.

Lunch counters, soda fountain and other departments will be added, and the store modeled after the new de luxe Woolworth stores in the East. When completed, it will be the largest five-and-ten store west of Toronto, with all departments on one floor.

HARD TO PLACE

CHINESE HAPPY; GET NEW HOMES

San Francisco Plans Project To Replace Chinatown's Dingy Buildings

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4 (AP).—Canny Chinatown, where they study all the angles before saying yes to anything, gave an unrestrained cheer today for a Government-approved plan to replace some of the quarter's dingiest buildings with a concrete-walled Garden of Eden, equipped for modern living.

But before the project, assured of realization by a $1,350,000 United States housing authority appropriation this week, gained approval in Chinatown, many questions were asked.

Architects Mark Daniels and Henry T. Howard told of the strangest. It concerned evil dragons that travel on the wind and have a habit of entering through windows on the north sides of houses.

Daniels assured the superstitious that there would be few, if any, windows on the north and that in any case, they would be barred against the spirits of dragons.

FOR THE CULTURED

Cultured Chinese, and those with other interests, examined the plans for the big, six-story housing project and went away happy.

Chee Low, secretary of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, expressed satisfaction that adequate living facilities would be provided in the new structure for 1,500 Chinese, about 7½ per cent of the district's entire population, now badly housed.

The arrangements of the kitchens was the prime concern of Johnny Kan, restaurant keeper and Chinatown's best known gourmet.

"Chinese housewives use plenty of sauces and condiments," he told Daniels. "Better fix a big shelf near the stove in each apartment to hold them."

"Okay," promised Daniels.

Daniels said apartments would range in size up to six rooms, and rent for $17 to $21 a month.

"Okay," said Kan. "Chinatown's for it."

FLYING DOCTOR IN AUSTRALIA

Service by Plane and Wireless Originated by Rev. John Flynn

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 4 (AP).—Australia's most precious gift to her people "out back" in the isolated sections of the interior is the "flying doctor."

Inspiration for this humanitarian institution came from Rev. John Flynn, Presbyterian minister, who is known throughout Australia today as "Flynn of the Inland." He recently was given the supreme honor of his church in the moderator-generalship of Australia.

In 1912, Mr. Flynn founded the Australian Inland Mission to minister to the isolated people residing in the interior of the continent. He soon perceived an urgent need for medical and nursing services in regions which were devoted mainly to cattle-raising and mining, occupations which led to many serious accidents.

PLANE AND WIRELESS

Mr. Flynn dreamed of doctors visiting their patients by plane and advising them by wireless.

The first step was to devise a radio simple enough for the use of untutored people, and a young wireless expert ultimately invented one that filled the bill both for transmitting and receiving. Outgoing messages were transmitted through a small high-tension generator worked by bicycle pedals, and were sent by Morse code tapped out on an ingenious automatic transmitter. Incoming messages were received through loudspeakers by word of mouth. On a short radius of up to 200 miles, this system of two-way transmission has been found to be practicable.

THE INITIAL BASE

Flynn interested philanthropists in the cities in the project, and by 1927 had money enough subscribed to establish the first base at Cloncurry in Western Queensland with a doctor, aerial ambulance and wireless station at the base.

Today there are similar bases at Wyndham and Port Hedland in the northern section of Western Australia; Alice Springs in the Northern Territory; Kalgoorlie in the heart of the Western Australia goldfields, and Broken Hill in Western New South Wales.

The Flynn dream has come true and there now are six flying doctors serving a population of 23,000 whites and 13,500 aborigines in a territory of more than a million square miles. Each one covers an area with a radius of 400 miles.

In 1939 the doctors made 247 flights, covering 87,000 miles.

The service costs about $90,000 a year, of which the Commonwealth and State Governments contribute more than $40,000. Patients' fees and public subscriptions take care of the balance.

OAK BAY LIBERALS

The Oak Bay Liberal Association will hold a meeting in the Oak Bay Theatre Hall tonight, at 8 o'clock. A social will be held following the meeting.

CHAPTER VIII

Vivian turned on his heel, went into his bedroom and shut the door.

Like one in a daze, Jean walked out of the study and into her own apartment. There, too, one passed through a room before the bedroom. It was fitted up as a boudoir, and it had given Vivian much pleasure to select its beautiful furnishings for his bride. He had loved Jean then and he loved her now, but he was innately fickle and lost his head over each new inamorata.

Yet never before had he brought one of his Dulcineas to his home.

Jean paused in the boudoir and flung herself into a big chair with a feeling of being stunned. What should she do? The house full of guests, she couldn't pick up the baby and run away. The baby! Banished from her dear nursery! Those lovely rooms, so carefully arranged for heat and light and air, so exquisitely furnished for the darling occupant—no! She would not let Vivian put her up in a couple of ordinary guest rooms.

And yet—she knew her husband, but she had never before seen this phase. The guest rooms on that floor were pretty well filled, and she couldn't give Esmeralda—outrageous name!—two, with bath, unless she moved somebody. Suzy wouldn't mind, but Suzy had only one room, and—for the first time in her life Jean was afraid of what Vivian might do.

Her first fury at Vivian's cruelty faded a little as she thought what might happen if she refused to obey.

She had no way of knowing, for never had a real crisis occurred before, and whenever they had differed, she had given in, if the matter seemed to her trifling, or she had coaxed him around to her way, if it was to her important.

And even now she would dare to brave him, if any other issue were at stake than the well-being of her child.

Vivian had so wanted a boy, and had been so disappointed at the advent of a little girl, that he had never shown the slightest interest in the child, and seeing him seldom, the little one was afraid of him and cried at his approach.

Supposing Jean's growing fears said to her, he should do something dreadful to Florimel—banish her or something—well, Jean would go too—but she had no money, and what could she do with a nurse and baby and no funds?

Her heart grew sadder and more hopeless. Her common sense told her that she must not thwart Vivian whatever happened. She had been able to twist him around her finger at first, but now it was different.

Though she was as charming and as beautiful as ever, his butterfly nature had tired of her, and he was showing her traits she never knew he possessed.

She thought over what it would mean is she obeyed him—if she allowed him to bring a screen actress into her home and place the stranger in a position of honor. Unthinkable! But was it not the only way to prevent some terrible scenes, some possible scandals and some hideous gossip? And, after all, might it not react against Vivian? Might not the crowd rally around her, vow that she was in the right, and turn against Vivian?

No, she knew that would not happen. People are not like that, at least she could not be certain of such results.

Her meditations were deep and careful. And at last she saw clearly that the wise procedure for her was to accept the situation and do the best she could with it. Her love for Vivian had received its death blow. For herself she would have reasoned otherwise, but for her child she must obey the orders given her and carry on with all the wisdom and tact she could summon to her aid.

Once having made up her mind, he would never falter, but go straight ahead with courage if not hope.

The next morning she followed instructions. She called Jansen, their clever houseman, gave orders exactly and knew they would be exactly carried out. She told Rhoda as much as she thought necessary of the matter, and Rhoda, understanding more than she seemed to, did her part in the moving of the nursery.

Florimel, eleven months old, was just beginning to walk and was so interested in keeping her balance that she made no objections to a change of scene and adapted herself to third-story life without a murmur.

Rhoda, on the contrary, was full of a smoldering wrath.

"It's that man!" she told herself. "For some fool reason he's put this on her. I wonder she stands for it, poor dear. But I'll do all in my power to help her."

But Rhoda could no nothing to quell the rising fires in the breast of Jean Forrest.

After overseeing the moving, she devoted herself to her guests, who were practicing with the foils or studying fencing positions before a long mirror.

"More people coming today, Jean?" asked Suzy, who adored a crowd.

"Oh, yes. Vivian has some friends coming this afternoon, and I think I shall have a few more acceptances."

BERLIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Nazi news and propaganda service reported today leaden receptacles containing 18 grams of radium from the Curie Institute in Paris have been recovered from rock-hewn cellar near the French town of Blois, on the Loire River. It claimed 10.5 grams have been returned to the institute and the remainder to its Belgian owners.

ISSUES REPORT ON RIVER FLOW

Board of Canada and United States Makes Suggestions Concerning Souris River

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—The International Joint Commission has recommended setting up of an engineering board to conduct further investigations and carry out recommendations it has made for partially solving the Souris River problem in Saskatchewan, North Dakota and Manitoba, the Prime Minister's office disclosed today.

As an interim measure, pending more detailed study by the engineering board, the International Commission made these recommendations to the Canadian and United States Governments:

1. Existing uses of Souris River water in Saskatchewan and North Dakota should be continued.

2. A dam should be built at Weyburn, Sask., to provide water for that town and the large mental hospital there.

3. A small dam should be constructed to provide a water supply for the village of Crosby, N.D.

4. A regulated flow of not less than ten second feet should be released by North Dakota from stored water in that state during the months of June, July, August, September and October, to take care of "the most urgent needs" of Southern Manitoba.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

The Prime Minister's office released a 600-word statement on the report submitted to the two Governments by the International Commission. A group of six engineers —three from Canada and three from the United States—conducted the investigations, which were first announced last January 15.

The Souris River, known in the United States as the Mouse River, rises in Saskatchewan, crosses the International Boundary into North Dakota and then flows north into Manitoba where it joins the Assiniboine, the chief branch of the Red River.

The Canadian Government especially has been interested in the river's level because of irrigation schemes in connection with the prairie farm rehabilitation problem to deal with drought problems.

DIFFICULT PROBLEM

"The problem with which the commission had to deal was far from simple," the statement from the Prime Minister's office said.

"The Souris flows through a region where the principal industry is farming, and where water is a commodity the value of which it would be hard to over-estimate.

"For a number of years past the rainfall has been so slight that the region has been classed as semi-arid, and many people, particularly on the Canadian side, have had to abandon their farms and move elsewhere."

The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act organization had done valuable work in conserving the water supply in Southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

CONSERVATION PLANS

Various projects for conservation and use of water had also been carried out in North Dakota. In addition, the United States biological survey had been setting up a series of wild fowl sanctuaries, consisting essentially of restoring former swamp conditions to certain parts of the valley and creating a large reservoir on the Souris River for regulating the water supply.

"Storage in North Dakota is the key to the solution of the problem of conserving the flow of the Souris for the benefit of the farmers of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, as well as of North Dakota," the statement said.

It added that the North Dakota reservoir and sanctuaries were helpful, but there were other complicating factors demanding more detailed study before a permanent policy could be worked out.

The international commission, therefore, confined its recommendations to interim measures, and recommended appointment of the engineer board to make further investigations.

DESCRIBES AIR TRAVEL ABROAD

Sir Heaton Robinson Relates Incidents in Near East Journeys by Plane

The advantage of air travel as a means of transportation were strikingly illustrated by Sir Heaton Forbes Robinson, formerly director of works for the Imperial War Graves Commission, in a talk to the Victoria Branch of the Overseas League at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Describing journeys in the Near East, which he undertook while visiting various British military cemeteries two years ago, including travels from Basra to Teheran, Baghdad to Damascus, Jerusalem to Cairo, and Istanbul to Athens, mainly by plane, Sir Heaton enlivened his remarks with anecdote and incident encountered en route.

He gave an account of the conditions and scenes of the various countries he flew over, and how much time he saved, sometimes running into days, by using the airplane as a mode of transit.

The honorary corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. G. McDonald, introduced four new members, and reported that a total of $413 had been sent overseas since the war began as a contribution from the branch to the league's war funds.

Over one ton of clothing had been sent to aid victims of air raids in London, the secretary reported. A report was also given on the knitting work done on behalf of the crews of British mine sweepers and trawlers. Rev. T. H. Laundy presided.

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"

If November 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon; from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m.; from 6 to 8 p.m., and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

If a woman and November 5 is your birthday, your interest in your family's welfare is apt to be your paramount concern. If you are fond of social activities you will probably, sooner or later, make them subservient to charitable ones. Through your astuteness you may gain a decided reputation for business sagacity and find yourself frequently consulted on matters requiring diplomatic handling. With a combination of business efficiency and artistic talent, you should have more than a moderate success if you engage in dramatic, literary, musical, medical, scientific, dietetical, or specialized commercial work. Your matrimonial experiences are, apparently, going to be varied, interesting and very happy ones, on which you will, in years to come, be able to look back without any regrets.

The child born on November 5 is frequently destined to more than offset any sorrows, disappointments or worries its parents have had to endure in the past. Mutually well equipped to fight the battle of life Scorpio's children generally come through with flying colors.

If a man and November 5 is your natal day, you will have to learn that even if you think you are in the right regarding some stand you take, if the consensus of opinion is that you are wrong, it generally pays to defer to it. Through your efforts as a contract man, journalist, author, actor, theatrical producer, agriculturist, scientist, engineer, architect, artist, musician, salesman, chemist, politician, or inventor, you may not only make money and a reputation, but also a wide circle of friends.
